AMA President-Elect Speaks At Medical Alumni Banquet

Dr. James Z. Appel, president-elect of the American Medical Association, addressed the annual banquet of the class of 1955 of the School of Medicine Alumni Association in Los Angeles March 15th.

The 75-year-old physician, who has been editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, briefly outlined the history and purposes of the JAMA and explained the principles of medical education to provide medical care for the aged.

"The JAMA works to protect the consumer—the patient. Government control of medical care tends to weaken self-government," he said.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Dr. Appel praised Loma Linda University's School of Medicine Alumni Association for its active, loyal membership. He commended Win. Frederick Norwood, 1917, assistant dean of the School of Medicine, for his work in developing loan funds which have benefited students and graduates from medical schools throughout the nation.

Alumni of the Year

Dr. George T. Harding, III, a native of the county, was named Alumni of the Year at the banquet. For many years, the president of the board of trustees of Loma Linda University, Dr. Harding is also director of Harding Hospital in Winters.

He and his wife, the former Alma Petersen, are the parents of George T. Harding, IV, SM, MD; Horace P. Harding, SM, 67; Warren G. Harding, III, a sophomore student in the School of Medicine, another son, Richard and a daughter, Ann.

Other alumni who were honored included: Charles W. Harris, SM, SB; Russell L. Karch, BM; Arnold H. Hudson, Jr., '67, and John E. Bottsford, Jr., '66. (Photo by Ellis Rich.

Honor Society Cites 13 Students, Alumni

Twelve students in the School of Medicine and three alumni were recently elected into Alpha Omega Alpha membership of the Epsilon chapter in Los Angeles.

Alpha Omega Alpha, a national medical honor society, has branches on the campuses of most accredited medical schools in the United States and Canada. The organization is dedicated to advancing research, promoting humanitarian service, and to furthering the scientific and philosophical ideals of the medical profession.

The Epsilon chapter, established in 1967 on the La Angles campus, each year selects as members junior and senior medical students and alumni of high moral character whose scientific and clinical performance in medicine have been outstanding.

Epsilon chapter secretary Wadie E. Blackmon, BM, '64, reports that the following members of the class of 1965 were elected:

Week of Devotion Closes Tomorrow

The Week of Devotion ends tomorrow evening when Dr. P. Jose Ponce asks the question, "What Are Your Perceptions of the Bible?" and 10:30 a.m. services in the University Church.

Throughout the week he has discussed "Great Issues Facing the World Today: Good and Evil," "The Nature of God," and "Imagination and Reality." Dr. Ponce received his doctorate's degree from the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. His Doctor of Philosophy degree was awarded by Michigan State University.

Currently professor and chairman of the Department of applied theology at Andrews University, Dr. Ponce began his career by teaching in an academy and pastoring a church in the North-west and in Boston. In 1965 he was named staff of La Sierra College and as a teacher in the School of Religion.

He left the University in 1962 to serve as director of the La Sierra Church. One year later he was made professor of religion and has held that post until today 1960.

Dr. Ponce was awarded the Seventh-day Adventist Church's highest honor in Religion and is the author of a book entitled By Faith Alone, published in 1946 by Pacific Press Publishing Association.

He and his wife, the parents of a son Harold and a daughter Patricia, live in this city.

Dr. Richard C. Pems will conduct the Week of Devotion on the La Angles campus April 12 to 16.

School of Nursing Accepts 48 Students for Class of '68

The School of Nursing has announced the acceptance of 48 students to the class of 1968. All are freshman at various colleges and will enter the University as sophomores in the fall.

Marlene Atchberry, dean of the School of Nursing, says that those who have already been accepted, a number of others will be accepted with their names and their application status for their applications have been received.

Students who received letters of acceptance were interviewed by the admissions committee before they were offered the enrollment.

Top Dental Leaders Attend Convention

Nationally known dental authorities participated in the Alumni Convention held March 17 to 20. More than 1,300 graduates of the School of Dentistry, dental hygienists, theses and researchers, and exhibitors attended the convention which was sponsored jointly by the University and the School of Dental Surgery.

The president of the American Dental Association, Dr. Fritz A. Piers, delivered the keynote address Thursday morning. He explained the association's role in dental education and praised the University of Loma Linda School of Dentistry.

"We have been very favorably impressed during my visit here," he said. "The excellent reports about the School have not been exaggerated.

He commended the School for providing dental care to needy families in both California and Mexico and cited the students and faculty teams that travel to Southern Mexico each year to help residents of remote Indian villages.

At a news conference following his address, Dr. Pierson criticized many families for failing to care for their teeth on the list on the family budget. Dr. Ralph S. Loyd, assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, said at the same news conference that the School's clinical competition is an "unusual and unique program.

These scientific exhibits and demonstrations are an opportunity for students to use their ingenuity and originality in presenting unusual facets of dentistry. This program is an excellent way to encourage students to participate in continuing education programs after their graduation.

Dr. Loyd was one of the judges who evaluated the student dental clinics at the convention.

A huge circus tent was erected for the third annual Student Fair where 2,200 students from the School of Dentistry build their house student and commercial exhibits.
