Dr. Magan Honored on Final Sixtieth Anniversary Program

The University concluded on June 6 a series of events observing the 60th anniversary of its founding by naming the administration building "Percy Magan Hall" in memory of Percy T. Magan, MD, former president of the University.

Before a crowd of about 900 persons, Dr. Wellesley P. Magan, a 1919 School of Medicine alumnus, unveiled a plaque on a stone that once stood on the campus of his alma mater. After interning at the University of Chicago, he was awarded a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of California in 1928 until several years ago by his wife, Lillian Neff, with bouquets of roses. Mrs. Neff's bouquet, which has been awarded a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of California in 1928 until several months ago by his wife, Lillian Neff, with bouquets of roses. Mrs. Neff's bouquet, which has been reserved for the University, which at that time was the College of Medical Evangelists.

The elder Magan, who was graduated in 1914 from the University of Tennessee College of Medicine, served as president of the University from 1928 until 1942. He died on July 12, 1947, survived until several months ago by his wife, Lillian E. Magan, also a physician.

Walter E. Maganboren, MD, vice president for medical affairs, eulogized Dr. Magan as a fearless administrator dedicated to his God and to the success of the University, which at that time was the College of Medical Evangelists.

President Godfrey T. Anderson presented Mrs. Magan and Mrs. Merlieh Neff with bouquets of roses. Mrs. Neff's bouquet, which has been reserved for the University, was awarded by Dr. Ira Scudder in 1900.

That college, which closed in 1910, was the first medical college founded by the Seventh-day Adventists in the United States. Senator from California, Thomas H. Kuchel, praised the University for its high standards and intellectual curiosity. It has tried to motivate persistent in-service and purposeful living in the service of God and humanity.

The school, which at that time was the College of Medical Evangelists, has had a special place in the history of the University and will become affiliated with the University of Loma Linda.

At the same early anniversary service, the University dedicated its first school, the School of Nursing, and placed a plaque on a stone that once stood on the campus of the then American Medical Missionary College in Michigan.

That college, which closed in 1916, was the medical school founded by the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Another college, which has been associated with the University in its early days also was a 1908 graduate from the School of Nursing and Dr. Edward C. Jaeger, who attended the sanatorium dedication in 1932 as a boy and who later taught in the elementary school in Loma Linda. He is a noted biologist and author. Mr. Jaeger's college was provided by the Long Beach Methodist Church.

Another 60th anniversary events have featured Dr. Paul Tillich (Chicago), who addressed the University by President Andrews (February), the Medical Missionary Convocation-Banquet (April), the Outreach of the Church's Health Evangelism: an Outright (April), and the Founder's Day Luncheon and Convocation with a review of the history by Francis D. Nichol (May).

Dr. Witzel to Teach at Vellore College

Event W. Witzel, MD, instructor in anatomy, will leave this summer for a two-year teaching position at Vellore Christian Medical College in India. As a visiting professor he will teach anatomy at the college, which is affiliated with the University of Madras.

Dr. Witzel is uniquely qualified for this assignment, says Harold S. Huyck, MD, professor and chairman of the department of anatomy. "The request from Vellore specified that the teacher have an MD degree and graduate work in anatomy. Dr. Witzel meets both of these requirements. While on leave he will retain his rank at the University and will become assistant professor of anatomy on July 1, according to a recent action of the Board of Trustees."

Dr. Witzel received his BA degree from Andrews University in 1957. He earned his MS and MD degrees at Loma Linda University. After interning at Honolulu Sanitarium and Hospital, he was awarded a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Chicago. He joined the staff of his Alma Mater in 1961.

He will be accompanied by his new wife, by the wife, Joan, and two children: Eddie, 6; and Judy, 4.

Vellore Christian Medical College and Hospital was founded by Dr. Ira Scudder in 1900. The college, with its 923-bed hospital, has 218 medical students in training, and graduates 60 nurses annually.

The institution is supported by 23 missions and churches in India, and by 28 church groups outside India, including the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, which owns and operates the school.

School of Dentistry Is Reaccredited

The School of Dentistry and the Dental Hygiene Curriculum at Loma Linda University have both been reaccredited by the Council on Dental Education for up to five years.

Formal notification received last week by School of Dentistry Dean Charles T. Smith followed a week-long inspection of the two programs last March. Accreditation of educational programs in dentistry is for an indefinite period, with reaccreditation always scheduled with five years.

The Council on Dental Education, which approves such programs at schools in the United States, represents the American Association of Dental Schools, the American Association of Dental Examiners, and the American Dental Association. The examining team which spent March 8 to 12 at the Loma Linda school included faculty members from two other dental schools, an American Dental Association official, and a representative of the Dental Examiners.

GRIST OF KNOWLEDGE without any central meaning.

The afternoon program concluded a weekend series of events beginning Friday evening, June 5, with a homily, "We Have Promises to Keep," by Dr. Daniel Walther, professor of church history at Andrews University.

The baccalaureate sermon, titled "The Church and Society," was preached by Robert R. Rietschel Saturday afternoon in Pasadena Civic Auditorium. Mr. Rietschel is president of the Pacific University.

The quality and effectiveness of the University will be gauged by the excellence of your work and the integrity of your character. Mindful of our Lord's dictum that much will be required of him to whom much has been given, you are the natural endeavor to help you, in addition to professional competence, a sense of humane concern. Having chosen Loma Linda University, you now have the moral obligation to fulfill its ideals and forward its progress.

As the noise which men term fame, the voice of duty calls you. Beyond the glitter of its golden dross, nobler and more enduring values beckon. Beware the barren heights of materialism, and find your solace in the land with insatiable attraction for those who progress upward. Preserve in your heart a place for reverence and worship. Never permit the debilitating gadgetry of science to cloud the spiritual aspect of your vocation.

Now as you leave your school to take your place in the world among those for whom agony and ecstasy have always gone hand in hand, may you act a worthy part.
