Smoking Statistics Reveal
Non-Smokers Live Longer

At age 30, a male member of the tobacco-free Seventh-Day Adventist Church can expect to live five years longer than a regular smoker. Non-smokers of both sexes have a life expectancy six years longer than their regular smoking counterparts.

The report, co-authored by Frank R. Lemon, MD, associate professor of preventive medicine and public health, and Dr. Jan W. Kuzma, PhD, assistant professor of preventive medicine, Dr. Kuzma declared.

The general-population statistics, drawn from the life expectancy tables of the national death rate, represent all residents of the 48 contiguous states, including groups of non-smokers and smokers, and even the Seventh-Day Adventists themselves.

It appears that the life expectancy difference would have been even more dramatic had the second group comprised only regular smokers, rather than a mixed population group, Dr. Kuzma declared.

The average California male looks forward to another 34.2 years of life if he is a non-smoker, while his “average” counterpart. At age 35, the average Californian male looks forward to another 31.1 years of life if he is a non-smoker, while his “average” counterpart.

At age 40, the comparable life expectancy for the male Adventist is 34.2 years, while his “average” counterpart. At age 43, the Adventist male expects to live 6.2 years longer than his “average” counterpart.

At 35, the average Californian male expects to live 33.2 years, while his “average” counterpart.

At 40, the Adventist male expects to live 30.2 years, while his “average” counterpart.

At 45, the Adventist male expects to live 27.2 years, while his “average” counterpart.

At 85, the Adventist male expects to live 3.2 years, while his “average” counterpart.

At 90, the Adventist male expects to live 0.2 years, while his “average” counterpart.

The study, covering the years 1960-62 and 1970-72, was prepared for the period 1960-62 and compared with standard statistical tables provided by the California State Department of Public Health.

A Voice for the University

By Monte Sahl
Director, KSDA News

Along with a strong, dynamic liberal arts college, Loma Linda University inherited one of the largest educational radio stations in the state of California, when it merged with La Sierra College July 1, 1967. To any university this is a tremendous advantage. To a church-related university actively engaged in research and development and training personnel for a world-wide Christian enterprise, this is an opportunity without real measure.

A radio station presents both advantages and opportunities to a university. KSDA serves the University by making possible a strong communications curriculum and providing a positive, aggressive public relations program. KSDA is the University’s window in Loma Linda, California, and Riverside by providing music and informational programming especially suited to the particular culture.

The radio station becomes an integral, necessary part of the University family. KSDA©s "Operation Think Big" opens a vast world of opportunities to a university. KSDA serves the University by providing a positive, aggressive public relations program. KSDA serves the University communities in Loma Linda and elsewhere. In this involvement is the true greatness of any university, especially a Christian university. There will be those who will be interested in the university when it is not the media involved in the world around it. In this involvement is the mission of "Operation Think Big" to the Loma Linda campus. This super

Enrollment Increases

By Carl Sundin
Director, University Placement Service

One hundred and two students have been accepted into the class of 1971 of the School of Medicine. This supercedes the enrollment of last year’s class by 12.

When the School of Medicine was consolidated, bringing together the School of Dentistry and the Graduate School of Medicine, it was necessary to reduce the classes in medicine to 82 (from 95-98) because of the restricted facilities available. The new University Hospital with its adequate facilities makes it possible to accommodate more students than was possible prior to the consolidation.

The classes in the School of Dentistry have also been gradually increased in size over the years. In 1957, the class of 34 students were accepted into the class of 1957. This is up from 25 in the class of 1967, the first class to graduate from Loma Linda University School of Dentistry.

Treblinka

By Jean-Francois Steiner

Senior Librarian

Auschwitz, Beben, Durbau — these names have become familiar to all as symbols of the atrocities of Nazi Germany. Now after more than twenty years and a meticulous attempt to discover its "hidden history," the story of Treblinka is being revealed to the world.

The first two attempts failed. Then in the summer of 1943 word spread that Treblinka was to be destroyed by the Germans. A revolt became necessary. After a series of futile attempts and the failure of the rising up to turn public attention to the extermination camp, the murder Jean-Francois Steiner was haunted by the thought that the fire that once burned his father’s ranch would allow itself to be used again. The murder was a practical consequence of the failure to realize Treblinka was the only successful revolt staged by Jews. Although learning how to use it, they were able to succeed later. Steiner hoped to believe in the others had failed. From interviews with survivors it was possible to learn the truth of Treblinka and to bring it to the world.

Extermination of the Jews began in 1942. Treblinka, a small village northeast of Warsaw, was the first of the extermination camps. In the almost 20,000 man model death camp. It was constructed to give the appearance of a peaceful town with an attractive railroad station, well-kept streets, and little shops. But the center of the town was the “factory” in which 860,000 Jews were killed in one year.

Jews Rejected

The first step on the road to Treblinka was the relocation of the Jews in ghettos. The German government was attempting to create a false air of security within these ghettos. They began a series of raids during which thousands were sent to Treblinka and to their death. But these raids failed to prepare the way for the extermination of the Jews, because they were killed it must be admitted that the solution of the problem of the Jews had not yet been found.

Upon arrival at Treblinka the prisoners were divided into groups, stripped of all clothing and personal belongings and taken to the “showers.” The system was so perfected that in less than two hours a transcript would be eliminated.

The stronger Jewish men were selected as slave laborers and the weaker Jewish men were selected as abhuman slaves for dispensing of the extermination camps. The possessions left behind, it was estimated, formed a small group of men that wanted the hope of a revolt was born.

La Sierra Campus Students Participate in Civic Programs

Twenty-six student groups from the La Sierra campus Service Corps will participate in community action programs in the Riverside area, according to Richard D. Hergert, senior theology major and Service Corps director.

Invitations to visit and present programs have been extended by 22 Riverside area institutions.

One request comes from Glen D. Vernard, director of the Boys’ Republic High School in Chino. This is a boarding high school for youths who find it difficult to accept the social "norms" of their own communities.

The Better Living Club, formerly the American Temperance Society, will draw the boys into its newest film depicting the dangers of intemperance. The flicks are to be run on Tenancy Day and will carry a suggestion of the chaplain of the institution. Playing in an informal type of group therapy, and direct counseling on a one-to-one basis.

Evangelical efforts on behalf of any one denomination must be in harmony with the institution's state supported, according to the chaplain. However, he explained that a real need exists among the men for Christian counseling.

parts in life expectancy. At 35, the typical California woman has had an expected 41.5 years of life, her Seventy-First Adventist sister an expectancy of 45.5 years — 3.8 years longer.

Of the general population, about 53 percent of men and 25 percent of women were found to be current, regular cigarette smokers in a 1966 survey by the U.S. Public Health Service. This greater percentage of men smokers could readily account for the variance in life-expectancy differentials for the men's and women's groups, according to Dr. Kruus.

Factors of race, occupation, geographical distribution, etc., were analyzed and found to be not significant, in the study, he reported. Earlier studies comparing statistics for Seventy-First Adventists and the general population in 1968 showed that the numbers of the non-smoker church group experienced fewer deaths from lung cancer; pulmonary emphysema and other lung diseases, and from coronary, heart disease. The new study is the first showing that they actually live longer considering all causes of death.

Catering Services Benefits Missions

The Junior Medical Auxiliary has a catering service for fund raising, according to Mrs. C. Arnold Renschler, a JMA officer. They will cater parties, dinners, receptions, and showers, and will do all or any part of the planning and preparations.

The Junior Medical Auxiliary also has a counseling service on alcohol and tobacco and fellow healthful dietary principles, Dr. Renschler said.

Do the Orient
With Baker

Next summer, June 19-August 4, Dr. Alena Baker, professor of political science at Loma Linda University, is coming only four through the Orient: Singapore, Philippines, Brazil, Singapore, the Malay Peninsula, Thailand, Hong Kong, Java, Fukuoka, Japan. Her tour is climaxed with 15 days in beautiful Japan. Tour members may stop off in Tokyo on the way back to California.

Dr. Baker has been to the Orient a half dozen times. He taught Far Eastern history at the University of the South Pacific in Fiji, the Philippine Islands, Singapore, the Malay Peninsula, Thailand, Hong Kong, Java, Fukuoka, Japan. Her tour is climaxed with 15 days in beautiful Japan. Tour members may stop off in Tokyo on the way back to California.

Pacific Recruiters Schedule Visit

Recruiters from the North Pacific Union Conference will be at the University November 26-28, according to Carl Sundin, Pacific Northwest University personnel executive. Students and their families from this area are particularly encouraged to attend; auditors in the university may also be interested in a brief discussion of the religious life at the university.

Those unable to attend the dinners are invited to munchon with the representatives at the Riverside General Hospital and University Hospital in Riverside, Tuesday, November 28.

Presented by Pastor and Mrs. Robert Wheatley of the Ana- bailey in the memory of their son and brother who was kill- dector contributions may still be made for a future project, ac- ing. Memorial contributions can still be sent to the University in Mr. Wheatley's honor. Mr. Wheatley, who was a business administration major on the La Sierra campus at the time of his death, died of injuries received when he failed to negotiate his motorcycle around a mountain curve near Lake Arrowhead. Southern California Artist Shows Works at Art Gallery

The art of Bette Fauth is now showing through November 15 at the University's Art Gallery on the La Sierra campus, according to Howard Hughes, assistant professor of art.

The art show consists of 30 works including acrylic, oils, canvas, copper enamels, ink, and oil and watercolor paintings. The sub- ject matter of the paintings cov- ers a wide range from home and market houses of the Penn- sylvania countryside to the paintings of the human figure.

"Each painting creates an at- mosphere of its own," Mr. Hughes states. "There is a sense of isolation evident in the fig- ures; isolation that is experi- enced by every man. Yet there is a common of the figure with the physical environment."

Mrs. Fauth says that her pictures depict the mood of a person and therefore she cannot behold an object or figure apart from its background.

Her paintings are in a state of being, of flux, with arrows moving in and out through the use of color, tone, and form," Mr. Hughes says.

Mrs. Fauth attended Wash- ington College, New York; University of Arizona at Tucson; and received her bach- elor of arts degree from Thiel College, Pennsylvania. She received a masters de- gree from Chestnut Graduate School, Chestnut, Pennsylvania.

This year Mrs. Fauth is the art consultant for the San Ber- nardino Valley art program for the annually handicapped at the Be- nicer School in Rialto, is a member of the faculty at River- sn City College, Riverside, and at the University of Arizona at Riverside's extension pro-

Loma Linda Hosts Union Recruiters

Columbia Union Conference recruiting representatives will be on the Loma Linda campus during the Columbia Union, director of the University Placement Services.

A buffet dinner for interested students will be held Monday, November 13, at 6:45 p.m. in the campus cafeteria.

If anyone has ever doubted the need for, or appreciation of, general medical practitioners in America's rural areas, the recent experience of Warren E. Parmalee, SM©64, in the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-day Adventists should wake him up.

To prove this point, Parmalee received notice that he was to be drafted into the armed services on October 2. The physician felt that he was already rendering an essential service to his rural community, but in order for him to do so he needed to remain in that area. He successfully completed his draft 'proof and apply' to remain in his services.

By the time he was released from military service, Parmalee had received notice that he was needed in Jewett, New York, in the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. His expertise of Warren E. Parmalee, SM©64, in the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-day Adventists should wake him up.

This rural area has about 5,000 residents, but an equal number of visitors appear both summer and winter to enjoy the recreational facilities. "I joy the recreational facilities."

A few weeks ago, Dr. Parmalee received notice that he was to be drafted into the armed services on October 2. The physician felt that he was already rendering an essential service to his rural community, but in order for him to do so he needed to remain in that area. He successfully completed his draft proof and apply to remain in his services.

But that is not the entire story. Dr. Parmalee and his wife have endeared themselves to the people of this area to the extent that when they consider their need for physicians, they think first of Adventist physicians. One influential lady from a nearby town has written a lengthy letter to the president, telling of the expert care she and her family have received at a Seventh-day Adventist hospital and requesting that all pertinent medical records be sent to them in such an endeavor.

That this Adventist physician could not be spared, and contacted General Hersey in Washington, D.C. Sympathetic to the problem, the General called a halt to all proceedings, and requested that all pertinent papers be sent to him immediately. Important papers were being processed at that very time in Fort Monroe, but a halt was called. It is reported that the General even consulted with President Lyndon Johnson concerning the matter. Dr. Parmalee is still practicing medicine in Jewett, New York, but that is not the entire story.

Prominent Lexicographer Talks At Language Teachers Meeting

Andrew N. Nelson, PhD, professor of education, addressed members of the Association of Adventist Language Teachers of Southern California at a meeting in the Commons on the University's La Sierra campus last month.

Dr. Nelson, a prominent lexicographer, spoke about the problems he encountered while creating the "Modern Reader's Japanese - English Character Dictionary," a 1,109-page reference book known as the standard in all American universities teaching the Japanese language.

The dictionary was written after 48 years of intensive study of Oriental languages and contains all 70,000 words found in the Japanese language.

Dr. Nelson served as a missionary in the Orient for 40 years and spent two thirds of that time in Japan. Following World War II, he was named by General Douglas A. MacArthur as chief of the religious section of the Japanese Constitution Committee. As such, he was responsible for the wording of the religious liberty clause of the post-war Japanese constitution.

Dr. Nelson received his bachelor of arts degree from Walla Walla College and his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Washington. He is the author of numerous other dictionaries, including "Japanese - English Dictionary of Technical Terms," "Supplementary Japanese - English Dictionary," "Chinese Place Names," and a Japanese - English dictionary used by the American and British armies during World War II.

San Diego Academy Honors Long-time University Teacher

Richard B. Lewis, PhD, professor of English, was honored September 16 at a dinner in San Diego. Held in the Broadway Seventh-day Adventist Fellowship Hall, the handsome commemoration followed the fortieth anniversary of Dr. Lewis' appointment as principal of San Diego Academy.

Dr. Lewis headed the San Diego secondary school from 1927 to 1935. Under his leadership the academy upgraded its program from a two-year junior high curriculum to a fully accredited four-year high school status.

The number of California state scholarships available for new applicants this year has been doubled. A new law passed by the state legislature and signed by Governor Ronald Reagan authorizes the State Scholarship and Loan Commission to provide twice as many new state scholarships this year as last year. Approximately 5,000 new state scholarships will be awarded in April 1968, for use in 1968-69. Most of the new awards will be available to high school seniors but the number available for currently enrolled college students who are not already in the State Scholarship Program will also be doubled.

State scholarships are available for use at any accredited college in California. The awards range from $300 to $1,500 at independent colleges and are in the amount of fees charged to students at the University of California and the California state colleges. Current amounts are approximately $250 at the University of California and $130 at the state colleges.

Congressmen Praise University Open-heart Surgery Team

Three U. S. congressmen praised the Loma Linda University open-heart surgery team in separate speeches in the House of Representatives October 26.

The team left October 23 for a six-week program of surgery lectures, seminars and demonstrations for Greek physicians. The clinical trip, made at the request of leading Greek medical authorities, was authorized by Representative Durward G. Hall (R-Mo.) as proof "that 'M. D.' stands for medical diploma." His remarks underscored the benefits of this visit. I believe that Loma Linda University is to be greatly commended for its dedication and leadership in this endeavor.

On the day of the House speeches, the Loma Linda team met briefly with Congressmen Pettis and Brademas and Speaker of the House John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) in the Speaker's office adjoining the House chamber. The team left New York Thursday, October 26, for six-weeks of surgery and lectures at the 1,300-bed Evangelismos Hospital, described as the foremost medical center in Greece.

The participation of Greek physicians, he declared, "will expand medical knowledge in Greece and thus multiply the benefits of this visit. I believe that Loma Linda University is to be greatly commended for its dedication and leadership in this endeavor."

The invitation for the visit was extended by the hospital's medi cal director, Dr. Thomas A. Dominick.
