The annual Loma Linda campus Spring Week of Devotion will begin Monday, February 26, and continue through Saturday, March 3.

Reinhard R. Bietz, president of Seventh-day Adventists, will be the featured speaker. His theme will be “What Can I Do to Strengthen the Church?”

Mr. Bietz, for seventy youth leader in various areas of the U.S. S., is vice chairman of the University Trustees.

In 1950, he was named president of the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, and served in this capacity until his election to the presidency of the larger Pacific Union Conference in 1960.

From his office in Glendale, Mr. Bietz directs the activities of more than 3,000 church workers serving over 7,000 members of the 400 Adventist churches in his district.

“The church is facing some of its most critical days,” Mr. Bietz says, “and I think this constitutes a challenge to every member to think in terms of making a contribution to the objectives of the church.

“March has been said about the church’s responsibility to the individual, and altogether too little has been said about the individual’s responsibility to the church.”

Services will be held by Mr. Bietz each morning and evening throughout the week. Meeting times are 8:00-9 a.m. for the morning services, and 6:30-7:30 p.m. for the discussion groups.

Topics for the morning services are Monday — “Who Is the Church?”; Tuesday — “The Church and Organization;” Wednesday — “The Church and Community;” Thursday — “The Church and Integrity;” and Saturday — “The Church and Truth.”

Nursing president to speak at annual alumni homecoming

In Eleanor Elliott, president of the American Nurses’ Association, will deliver the annual Mary E. Welch Lecture, Sturm Hall, March 10.

Miss Elliott, who is currently director of nursing programs for the Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education, will arrive from Denver for the occasion.

Invitations are being extended to all nurses in the Inland Empire to join with the School of Nursing at the luncheon which will be given at 8:30 a.m. in the Dale Geary Gymnasium.

A one-day institute for nurses will precede the evening’s lecture. The institute will feature areas of current interest to nurses, whether they are currently involved in nursing or in nursing fields, received master of science degrees. Robert K. Cleveland, PhD, vice president for academic affairs at the University, present each of candidate to University President David J. Bieber, who, in turn conferred the degree. Other University officials participating in the ceremony were Geraldine M. Tupper, MD, assistant professor of epidemiology; Ralph L. Kooreny, PhD, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; Maxine Atteberry, dean of the School of Nursing; and Ruth Saadon, chairman of the department of nursing in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The commencement speaker has been a trustee of Loma Linda University since 1954. His work is now centered at the Pacific Union Conference in San Luis Obispo, California.

The previously announced keynote speaker, Robert H. Finch, lieutenant governor of California, is unable to attend the ceremony because of state legislature pressures.

Additional dental convention begins March 7; expect 1,200

The eighth annual School of Dentistry Alumni-Student Convention begins March 7 on the Loma Linda campus, according to Charles T. Smith, DDS, dean of the School of Dentistry.

Attendance of more than 1,200 dentists, dental hygienists and students of the two professions is expected for the two-day convention.

Keynote speech will be given Thursday morning, March 7, by Alonzo L. Baker, PhD, professor of political science. His topic will be “The Role of America in World Affairs as of 1968.”

Dr. Baker, who has traveled extensively throughout the world, recently returned from his third tour of the Soviet Union. He is the author of a 142-page book, Religion in Russia Today, which was published last September by Southern Publishing Association, Nashville, Tennessee.

Highlighting the dental convention will be the student dental clinic competition. The scientific exhibits, which will be judged by a panel of 15 leading dental, dental hygiene and other science students, are originated and prepared by dental and dental hygiene students. The clinics display advances in basic science and research or in clinical application and techniques.

The previously announced keynote speaker, Robert H. Finch, lieutenant governor of California, is unable to attend because of state legislature pressures.

Over 60 LlU students receive diplomas at winter ceremony

More than 60 Loma Linda University students received diplomas in winter commencement ceremonies on January 28. Speaker for the graduation held in the La Sierra church was Walter R. Bench, secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

The commencement speaker has been a trustee of Loma Linda University since 1954. His work is now centered at the Pacific Union Conference in San Luis Obispo, California.

Loma Linda survey indicates need for new gym

A poll tabulated by Loma Linda University's data processing center shows that a majority of the 1,145 Loma Linda residents care more about incorporating the area of the city. Of those who returned the survey, which was conducted under the direction of the Loma Linda Chapter of the California, 546, or 47.6 percent, were against incorporation, compared to 468, or 42.4 percent, who favored Loma Linda as a city. The remaining number, 113, favored annexation to another city.

The chamber now plans to establish study committees to gather additional data which will later be presented to the public, according to Elmer J. Digney, chamber president.

Film series depicts population problem

Loma Linda University School of Medical Health will show, as part of an international film series, the movie "Family Planning in Taiwan." Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Griggs Hall.

"Family Planning in Taiwan" depicts critical aspects of the population problem in Asia and describes how plans for population family planning, initiated in 1966, is being implemented.

The film and the discussion of the film, open to all interested individuals, will be held Thursday at noon during the spring semester. The purpose of the film is to present varying views of the problems faced by the developing areas of the world.

Senior commercial art student wins first prize in contest

A commercial art student in the College of Arts and Sciences has won first prize in a design competition sponsored by the Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View.

The publishing house recently established the intercollege competition to produce some contemporary designs for use on the covers of a forthcoming paperback series of religious books.

The first-prize winner is David A. Loveless, a senior on the La Sierra campus. He was awarded a total of $250 in a ceremony during the student assembly program.

Each college or university department participating in the competition received $200, according to Herschel Hughes, associate professor of art, who Wulona Fernbreth, '48, of Iquitos, Peru, wrote about the role of the river launches in the medical and evangelistic work in South America. Having returned from a river trip, she wrote that the people were so ex- cited that the launch captain and family are going on a much larger boat to visit their folks in Ar gentina, because as was expressed by one family, 'if we get sick while you are gone, we will just die.' One little lad told me, 'He saved my life, he keeps me well, and he will always be my doc tor.' With the thought always presenting itself, what do the people do on the days when the launch does not pass, we watched the people wave white clothes from the shores of the river to stop the launch for service. One man raced in his tiny canoe to intersect the path of the launch. He had brought a sack of water with a fever for help, so he tied his canoe to the moving launch and came aboard for treatment and the extirpation of some pain. At the end of the day we heard the launch visit in their only annual contact, and for others it is the promise of the gift of life!

It was reported in error in the last issue of SCOPE that Mina Samson Gregory, '18, had, in reality, been living in Whittier.

Mollie Samson Gregory, '18, had interned in nursing in Zambia, Africa. It is the promise of the gift of life!

As requests from across the nation for Board and University physicians, dentists, and other personnel continue to soar, the resultant increase in the length of the placement column is readily apparent. We feel that the placement column should be filled with the added bold face state designations plus additional white space at the top of each entry, which may make for easier reference to the individual items.

The function of the placement column is to focus attention on the needs and opportunities, wherever they occur, for Loma Linda University graduates. Missions forum to discuss overseas problems, attitudes

New emphasis in the work of church missionaries overseas will be the focus of a panel discussion to be presented at the University Missions Forum on March 5, in the A-Lambethium of University Hospital at 3 p.m.

The panel discussion, representing varying viewpoints, will be David Bostock, associate secretary of Seventh-day Adventist; Dennis Petrunkevitch, missionary to Pakistan; Bruce W. Dake, director of World Life Institute, and Ben S. Main, professor of public health practice. Arthur B. Sutton, publications director of the University of California, Riverside, will be moderator.

The panel is expected to consider the potential for church missionaries to fill the proper skills needed for the overseas worker, the length of time to be spent in the mission field, ways to update and improve attitudes and policies toward mission service, and today's missionaries, mission programs and their effectiveness in reaching all classes of people throughout the world.

The monthly University Missions Forum is sponsored by the University's sociology and anthropology to foster discussion and approaches to mission problems.

New LLU bulletins redesigned by staff

The first two Loma Linda University School bulletin for the 1968-69 school year are now available to prospective students at the admissions offices on both campuses.

The first is a new General Information bulletin describing the overall University organization and programs and listing the facilities and requirements of the various curriculums. The second, the Graduate School bulletin, provides full information about offerings and requirements of that school.

In all, ten separate bulletins are scheduled for publication during the school year. The School of Medicine has been redesigned by the University editor to meet the needs of an attractive, easily readable format.

Uniter recruiters plan campus visit

A recruitment team from the Atlantic Union Conference will be on the Loma Linda campus February 18-20, according to Carl Burd, personnel director.

Students may attend a buffet dinner on Monday, February 19 and a meeting in the campus cafeteria Monday, February 20.

Interested students who are unable to attend the dinner are urged to contact the University recruiter on the campus Thursday, February 15.

Frantic search for antidote successful; baby girl saved

Little Maria Simmons, the 15-month old daughter of a Twenty-nine Palm Springs corporal, was released from University Hospital late last month after her emergency admittance for iron tablet poisoning.

Doctors battled 18 hours to save the life of the little girl.

Physicians said that a drug, which has been flown to University Hospital by Los Angeles County Sheriff's deputies, who flew it to University Hospital by dental iron poisoning.

The Riverside representative of Ciba Pharmaceutical Company, was set on fire by child playing with matches, according to the hospital. The fire damaged the availability of the fire truck by medical director of the Far Eastern Island Mission Clinic on Guan, has been appointed Chief of Staff of the Guan Memorial Hospital.

Thomas E. Gibson, Jr., ’66, was recently assigned medical officer of the 7th Combat Aviation Group’s Headquarters Company near Nha Trang, Vietnam. Dr. Honor was also chairman of the Alumni Postgraduate Convention next month.

W. Edward Hon, ’50, medical director of the Far Eastern Island Mission Clinic on Guan, has been appointed Chief of Staff of the Guan Memorial Hospital.

George W. Patterson, ’55, has reopened his office at 601 South Main Street in Santa Rosa. He practiced in Wills for 15 years until 1964, when he went east to operate a clinic.

Marcelo A. Hammerly, ’35, who has been medical director of the River Plate Sanitarium in Argentina for the past 12 years recently reappointed the fifth World Congress of Gynecology and Obstetrics held in Sydney, Australia recently.

Dr. Hino was also chairman for the free counseling session on ‘Abnormal Effects of Labor—Fetal Distress and Placental Physiology.”

LELAND WILLIAMS (center), representative of Ciba Pharmaceutical Company, takes a box of experimental antidote from Los Angeles County Sheriff’s deputies, who flew it to University Hospital by helicopter. Within minutes, the antidote was being administered to Maria Simmons, a victim or accidental iron poisoning.

FIFTEEN MONTH OLD Maria Simmons swallowed 37 prenatal iron tablets from a bottle in her mother’s purse. A series of long distance telephone calls located an antidote at Children’s Hospital in Los Angeles.

Hands across the world, each grasping that of one outstretched by its counterpart. Hands trained in skills to save life, hands ministering from a dedicated heart, hands quick to respond to a brother's need; offer-to the splitted hand of a child, a youth, a mother or father in dire medical essence. As a sea of hands held high, visions of war, famine, pesti-

AN ORIGINAL OIL painting of University Hospital was presented to David B. Hinshaw, MD, dean of the School of Medicine, by officials of E. R. Squibb & Sons, Incorporated. The presentation is part of a long-range plan to create a collection of original oil paintings of the medical colleges of America. The project, known as "College Medica," will continue until representative paintings of all 86 medical schools have been completed.

The painting shows University Hospital, which houses the School of Medicine. To the right is the University Church. The rendition is the work of the well-known artist, Stanley W. Gil, Dr. Hinshaw felt that this particular view would be lasting and sentimentally remembered by every graduate.

The present was also made at a housewarming held in the Loma Linda University Medical Center dining room. Participating in addition to many citizens of prominence in education, government, and medicine, were: Raymond V. Campbell, chairman, Loma Linda University Board of Trustees; Clyde A. Pitchford, MD, president; Riverside County Medical Association; Clark J. Donnegan, MD, executive secretary, San Bernardino County Medical Society; and Raymond J. Powers, Squibb vice president for marketing.

Mr. Powers, in making the presentation to Dr. Hinshaw, said, "America's great system of medical education has produced the men and women responsible for the countless creative moments in medicine. Thus, it is to these fine institutions of medical knowledge, Squibb has dedicated the 'College Medica' program."

The "College Medica" program has been undertaken after consultation and discussion with the three organizations most intimately concerned with medical education: The American Medical Association; The Association of American Medical Colleges; and the Student National Medical Association.

School of Medicine graduate awarded bronze star medal

Capt. John E. Hodgkin, SM'64, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam."

Dr. Hodgkin was stationed in Vietnam at Long Binh, about 18 miles northeast of Saigon, with the 95th Engineer Battalion.

He presently is working in the internal medicine department of the United States Army Hospital at Fort Ord. After his tour of duty ends in May, he plans to return to Loma Linda University to continue his residency training in internal medicine.

School of Medicine hosts author

Walter Freeman, MD, former secretary of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, was recently a guest at the neurosurgery section at the School of Medicine, according to Clarence W. Olson, MD, professor of neurology.

Dr. Freeman's contributions to the neurological sciences include advancement in neuroradiology, neurosurgery, and psychotherapy. He is the author of "The Psychiatrist in America," which is in publication and will appear shortly.

KENNETH E. WICAL, DDS, assistant professor of restorative dentistry and director of the clinic, states that the dental clinic provides health services to the residents of the Monument Valley and Navajo Mountain areas, and also offers training opportunities for graduate dentistry, dental students, and dental assistants through extension programs of the School of Dentistry.

Sierra Towers men 'adopt' orphanage

An eight-year-old Korean orphan has been adopted by the men on the sixth floor of Sierra Towers, one of the many residence halls on the Riverside campus.

Enough money was raised by the men to send Kim Chung Tek to school for one year at Crossroads Orphanage in Pusan, Korea, according to Roger D. Rosenquist, senior religion major and chairman of the sixth floor.

Kim, who is a Christian, is an outstanding student and intends to become a teacher, says Shin Ching Sup, director of the orphanage.

"TOMORROW'S FOODS TODAY"

That's not just a catchy advertising slogan at Worthington Foods, Worthington, Ohio. For scientists now know tomorrow's world cannot survive with animal protein alone. And by tomorrow's world, we mean the 1970's-1980's.

The problem is both simple and acute: Lack of protein food — today! The world's present population will double by the year 2000 — now only 32 years away. Scientists estimate the specter of world hunger will likely follow by 1980.

The problem is both simple and acute: Lack of protein food. Scientists estimate the specter of world hunger will likely follow by 1980. What can be done? Vegetable protein provides one answer. It is a matter of simple economics.

One acre of land supplies only 43 pounds of protein when grazed. Heavily research oriented, Worthington continues to improve on present products while at the same time developing new ones.

Worthington Foods offers an intriguing meatless entree. Nutritionally, these products contain all the essential protein requirements — yet without the waste, disease, and other limitations of meat.

Operation by Seventh-day Adventist businessmen, Worthington Foods is one of several companies that are competing to extend its distribution facilities throughout the nation, and overseas business already has begun in several countries.

But the task of feeding a hungry world staggers the imagination. And when you awaken tomorrow morning, remember this. Every new day means 180,000 more mouths to feed in a world where there isn't enough food. Worthington Foods believes vegetable protein foods may provide one answer to the hunger explosion coming in tomorrow's world.

A charter member of the Association of SDA Self-Supporting Institutions, Worthington Foods Executive Vice President Allan R. Boller was recently elected president of the ASI. While an ASI member, the company has experienced growth for 13 consecutive years.

Heavily research oriented, Worthington continues to improve present products while at the same time developing new ones.

"We are committed to providing new and nutritious vegetable protein foods for our own people as well as for the world. We hope our people will continue to witness with these foods in behalf of the faith we believe in," says James L. Hagle, Worthington President.

'There is no longer any question that these foods we are eating today will help to feed tomorrow's world."
OVER 450 STUDENTS, faculty, and guests attended the annual Associated Students of the La Sierra campus (ASLSC) banquet last Sunday evening. Held at the Monte Corona Conference Center near Blue Jay, “A Night Under the Winter Stars” was coordinated by Helen Lopez, a junior psychology major. Entertainment was provided by Sharon R. Steinke, SN’69, and Michael J. Pettijohn, PT’68, and Clarence Treant, former lead singer of the New Christy Minstrels.

Escondido artist donates paintings for new hospital

Hildegard R. Patch, an artist from Escondido, has donated two of her original oil paintings to the Loma Linda University Hospital.

One painting, a seascape, hangs in the rehabilitation service waiting room. It was donated to the physical therapy department in honor of Mrs. Patch’s son-in-law, Larry M. Starr, PT’68.

The other picture, a modern floral design, has been hung in the lobby of the internal medicine department. This painting was given to the University in honor of Lee F. Crane, SD’62, nephew of the artist, and Franz H. Siemens, SM’51, brother of Mrs. Patch.

Worthington Foods, Inc., producer of Tomorrow’s Foods Today, continues to pioneer and lead in its field. And we need people who are interested in going places with us. Frankly, we are looking for a winner in many fields.

Look at these possibilities with Worthington: management, accounting, sales, food technology, nutrition, chemistry, engineering, data processing, secretarial, factory — supervisory, skilled and unskilled. How’s that for variety? Very specifically, right now or in the near future we need a nutritionist, a food technologist, industrial engineer, salesman, secretary, and painter.

What do we have to offer? First, association with an exciting company with an exciting future — here today! Developments in the field of vegetable protein foods are full of potential. In addition, all of these benefits are yours: group insurance for you and your family, paid vacations, sick pay, paid holidays, advanced education opportunities for advancement, and Company products at a significant discount. Worthington Foods is located in a delightful suburban community with the advantages of a big city — cultural, recreational, and educational — in nearby Columbus. Located in the heart of Ohio, we are within a few miles of many scenic spots.

How about it? Are you ready and waiting to leave boredom behind and move ahead? Write Kenneth Innocent, Personnel Director, Worthington Foods, Inc., Worthington, Ohio 43085 for more information about where you COULD be going. Worthington Foods is an “Equal Opportunities Employer,” a friendly place to work, and a winner in the market place. If you think you are a winner, too, Worthington Foods wants you.
English professor helps equip shop

Professor of English Richard R. Lewis, PhD, has donated $400 to the department of industrial education for the purchase of small tools.

The gift, in memory of his father, W. M. Lewis, will buy tools for the machine shop laboratory, including complete sets of drills, taps, and dies; various types of micrometers; turret tool holders; and collets and other lathe tools. “My father was a builder and I learned much of my college expenses by that trade,” says Dr. Lewis. “I advise all students to help equip the shop for a handicraft for recreational purposes.”

According to Dr. Lewis, a large percentage of people are unemployable in the United States because they are not trained for the technical jobs which are available in abundance. Parents are urging their children to go into professional careers although many would be happier working along technical lines.

Speech professor completes studies for doctoral degree

Jerry M. Lien, assistant professor of speech, has completed requirements for the doctor of philosophy degree majoring in speech at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

His dissertation subject was “The Spectromaking of the Anti-Saloon League of America.” The work dealt with the powerful and persuasive propaganda organization from its birth in 1895 to the passage of the 18th Constitutional amendment, prohibiting the sale of liquor, in 1919.

Faculty member is co-editor of book

Findlay E. Russell, PhD, research professor of neuroanatomy and Paul R. Saunders, MD, chairman of the division of the biological sciences at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, are co-editors of a new book, “Animal Toxins,” recently published by Pergamon Press.

Dr. Russell is also professor of neurology and physiology at the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

Pediatrie chairman serves on council of diabetes committee

Robert F. Chimnook, MD, professor and chairman of the department of pediatrics, has been invited to serve on the council of the American Diabetes Association for the 1967 to 1968 organizational year.

Dr. Chimnook is a member of the southern California chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

Electrocution

parking his car in a lot across the street when he heard what he believed to be an arc welder. “I saw a fire under the truck,” he said.

While other men reached Mr. Dudgeon there was no apparent loss of consciousness and he immediately began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Mr. Dudgeon died 14 hours after being electrocuted. When information concerning the hospital is to be published it should, of course, include the present number of employees categorized as to the nursing staff, etc.

The question rises as to what extent the building is being used. All the four cafes continue to operate, but each cafe has been remodeled. A new dining room, with seating for 2,000 cars, banks, offices, pharmacy, beauty and barber shops, travel agencies, restaurants, sporting goods center, and other sports-oriented stores, has been constructed at a cost of $2.5 million in addition to a large convention hotel which was announced last week by the Tom Grimm Real Estate Agency of San Bernardino.

Consortium, sports complex planned for Loma Linda area

Plans for a proposed multi-million-dollar sports center and convention hotel complex located near Loma Linda were announced last week by the Tom Grimm Real Estate Agency of San Bernardino.

A 5,000-seat, geodesic dome-type sports arena and a 500-room hotel with convention fac-lities for up to 1,000 persons. Completion date is set for the summer of 1969.

Academies schedule annual college day

Academy seniors from the Southern, Southeastern, and Arizona conferences will come to Loma Linda University College of Arts and Sciences during the month of March for the annual college day.

On March 6, Gorman, La Sierra, Sierra, and Eastern, and on March 13, to the La Sierra campus on March 20 will participate in college day.

Graduate School plans buffet dinner

The Loma Linda University Graduate School banquet will be held February 25 at 6:05 p.m. in the Commons on the La Sierra campus.

William M. Landeen, PhD, professor of history, will be the guest speaker. Music will be provided by a string trio from Pacific Union College under the direction of George M. Warme, DMin, professor of music.

The buffet style dinner is for students and faculty of the Graduate School only.

LOOKING NORTHWEST from the Redlands Freeway, an artist’s sketch of a proposed sports-convention center shows a 5,000-seat, geodesic dome-type arena and a 500-room hotel with convention fac-lities for up to 1,000 persons. Completion date is set for the summer of 1969.
