Laker basketball star to coach academy teams at La Sierra

All-star center for the National Basketball Association (NBA) Los Angeles Lakers Will Chamberlain will coach the La Sierra Academy basketball game Sunday, Feb. 22, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in the La Sierra Academy gymnasium.

Top basketball players from Southern California and southeastern conferences of Seventh-day Adventists will play a game, each side being coached by one of the two stars. The game will be part of the Visitor's Day sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education as part of "Basketball Jamboree '70." Mr. Chamberlain was a two-time All-American in the mid-1960's. He played briefly with the New York Knickerbockers but his career was cut short by a serious muscular disorder. "I was recuperating from the disease he became a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church through his wife, "The Bible'' by E. F. Smith.

Entering his 11th NBA season, Chamberlain boasts 29 NBA regular season, playoff, and career records, including the most points scored in one game, 100, and most rebounds in one game, 55. He is also the greatest career scorer in the history of basketball with 31,089 points, a 34.4 points-per-game average.

He has led the NBA in scoring seven times, in rebounding eight times, in field goal percentage four times, and in assists once. He has also been the league's most valuable player five times.

All-star center is an Al-American in college, Mr. Chamberlain shared the Harlem Globetrotters before joining the NBA as a member of the Philadelphia (later the San Francisco) Warriors. He also led the Philadelphia (later the Los Angeles) Lakers to the world championship before coming to the Lakers.

Frank W. N. Bob, the 6'11" basketball player at the Visitor's Day basketball game. Dr. Jure is Mr. Chamberlain's private physician and is treating him for a knee injury which has sidelined him for most of the season. Dr. Jure is also the team physician of the Los Angeles Dodgers as well as the Lakers.

Medical space expert will speak in Loma Linda

Nationally known space medicine expert Charles A. Berry, MD, will be guest lecturer at Loma Linda University Thursday, February 19, at 7:30 p.m. in Gentry Gymnasium, Loma Linda campus.

Dr. Berry, director of research and operations at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Texas, will speak on the medical results of the Apollo space flights.

In his position, Dr. Berry is responsible for planning, implementing and continually evaluating the medical effort of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The lecture, sponsored by the School of Public Health and the School of Medicine department of preventive and community dentistry, is free and open to the public.

Loma Linda University School of Dentistry begins a new program in community dentistry next Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Gentry Gymnasium, Loma Linda campus.

Dr. Berry, director of research and operations at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Texas, will speak on the medical results of the Apollo space flights.

In his position, Dr. Berry is responsible for planning, implementing and continually evaluating the medical effort of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The lecture, sponsored by the School of Public Health and the School of Medicine department of preventive and community dentistry, is free and open to the public.

SM alumna will lead third discussion on race relations

The third meeting in a eight-week series of discussions on the relations among Seventh-day Adventists is set for tonight at 7:30 in Fellowship Hall. The discussion, leading the discussion will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University, will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University.

"What Is It Like for a Patient coming to the clinic will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University. The series is open to all members of the community and employees of the University.

Dental students plan mobile clinic for Morongo Indian Reservation

Loma Linda University School of Dentistry begins a new program in community dentistry next Sunday according to Dr. Larry V. Smith, DDS, acting chairman of the department of preventive and community dentistry.

The program, initiated by the school's Dental Students Association, will help provide mobile dental care for the more than 400 Indians living on the Morongo Indian Reservation located near Banning.

Patients coming to the clinic will be seen in a completely self-contained mobile dental van. The mobile dental clinic was recently obtained from the Loma Linda University School of Medicine department of preventive and community dentistry.

"Our students will be able to provide basic dental care in the newly refurbished truck as we use in our School of Dentistry clinics," Dr. Smith said. "We are also planning to have a dental van with two fully-equipped operations rooms.

Dental program new

Programs in community dentistry are not new at Loma Linda University. Among the programs initiated by the School of Dentistry currently operating is a mobile dental clinic, "Harbor," provided by the Southern California Chapter of the American Dental Association.

Also a two-time All-American, Mr. Chamberlain was a two-time All-American at Oregon State and a director and chairman of the health effect committee of the Nevada Dental Association.

SM alumna will lead third discussion on race relations

The third meeting in an eight-week series of discussions on the relations among Seventh-day Adventists is set for tonight at 7:30 in Fellowship Hall. The discussion, leading the discussion will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University.

"What Is It Like for a Patient coming to the clinic will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University. The series is open to all members of the community and employees of the University.

Dental students plan mobile clinic for Morongo Indian Reservation

Loma Linda University School of Dentistry begins a new program in community dentistry next Sunday according to Dr. Larry V. Smith, DDS, acting chairman of the department of preventive and community dentistry.

The program, initiated by the school's Dental Students Association, will help provide mobile dental care for the more than 400 Indians living on the Morongo Indian Reservation located near Banning.

Patients coming to the clinic will be seen in a completely self-contained mobile dental van. The mobile dental clinic was recently obtained from the Loma Linda University School of Medicine department of preventive and community dentistry.

"Our students will be able to provide basic dental care in the newly refurbished truck as we use in our School of Dentistry clinics," Dr. Smith said. "We are also planning to have a dental van with two fully-equipped operations rooms.

Dental program new

Programs in community dentistry are not new at Loma Linda University. Among the programs initiated by the School of Dentistry currently operating is a mobile dental clinic, "Harbor," provided by the Southern California Chapter of the American Dental Association.

Also a two-time All-American, Mr. Chamberlain was a two-time All-American at Oregon State and a director and chairman of the health effect committee of the Nevada Dental Association.

SM alumna will lead third discussion on race relations

The third meeting in an eight-week series of discussions on the relations among Seventh-day Adventists is set for tonight at 7:30 in Fellowship Hall. The discussion, leading the discussion will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University.

"What Is It Like for a Patient coming to the clinic will be Myrtle U. Caton Larson, assistant professor of sociology at Oregon State University. The series is open to all members of the community and employees of the University.

Dental students plan mobile clinic for Morongo Indian Reservation

Loma Linda University School of Dentistry begins a new program in community dentistry next Sunday according to Dr. Larry V. Smith, DDS, acting chairman of the department of preventive and community dentistry.

The program, initiated by the school's Dental Students Association, will help provide mobile dental care for the more than 400 Indians living on the Morongo Indian Reservation located near Banning.

Patients coming to the clinic will be seen in a completely self-contained mobile dental van. The mobile dental clinic was recently obtained from the Loma Linda University School of Medicine department of preventive and community dentistry.

"Our students will be able to provide basic dental care in the newly refurbished truck as we use in our School of Dentistry clinics," Dr. Smith said. "We are also planning to have a dental van with two fully-equipped operations rooms.

Dental program new

Programs in community dentistry are not new at Loma Linda University. Among the programs initiated by the School of Dentistry currently operating is a mobile dental clinic, "Harbor," provided by the Southern California Chapter of the American Dental Association.

Also a two-time All-American, Mr. Chamberlain was a two-time All-American at Oregon State and a director and chairman of the health effect committee of the Nevada Dental Association.
GENTLEY GYMNASIUM, LL—Woman's auxiliary to the Alumni Association of Loma Linda University School of Medicine benefit program. "Surefoot in the Gym": 7:30 p.m.

Monday, February 16
STUDENT LOUTH, UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL, LL—North Pacific Union Conference enrollment. All district.

UNIVERSITY CHURCH, LL—Convocation, sponsored by the Board of Nursing: 8:30 a.m.

Tuesday, February 17
LA SERRA CHURCH, LS—Contemporary Gospel Singers. Rehearsal. Pastors: vice president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, "Changing Patterns": 7:30 a.m.

Wednesdays, February 18
UNIVERSITY OF EDLANDS MEMORIAL CHAPEL, Redlands—Community Forum, 5 p.m.; lecture, Kenneth Rogers, "Ethics—Problems of a Neutralist": 7:30 p.m.

Thursday, February 19
SAN BERNARDINO VALLEY COLLEGE—Forum before Oscar McWilliams: "New Management, Open Your Heart. Empty Your Hands. Roll up Your Sleeves": 7:30 p.m.

SUNSET TRAVEL
—Reservations by SABRE computer—
Tickets by Teleticketing—
Airline Tickets — Youth Standby tickets and cards
RESERVE NOW FOR SPRING VACATION
TU 9-0024
350 W. 5th Street
San Bernardino, Calif.

World's only duo organists come as next UALS talent

The world's only duo organists, the Young & Old, Rich & Poor, Black & White and Brown & Yellow & Red, will be presented in concert at Loma Linda University, Saturday, February 21, in Gentry Gymnasium.

They will perform separate programs of popular and classical organ music at the 8 p.m. program. In the first section of the program, Ted A. Worth, the classical organist of the duo, will illustrate the development of organ literature from Bach and Purcell to the 20th Century.

The second section of the program will feature the organist, Andrew Crow, who will demonstrate the development of the theatre organ in the 1900's. Admission to the program is a University Artist and Lecture Series season pass, a Loma Linda campus student identification card, or $3 at the door.

An accountant turned dental technician seeking a profession where he can do either or both, interested in part-time and dentures, but knowledge-able in all phases. Prefer-ably in California. Write: A. M. Webster, 1911 Or- chard Avenue, Glendale, California 91206; or call (213) 245-7716.

Dental specialists needed in Frederick, California. Pedo-dontist, orthodontist, oral surgeon. Professional build-ing for sale or lease. In good location for private practice or an investment. Please contact L. M. Chalmers, 5841 Sierra Avenue, Fre-drick, California 93532 or telephone (714) 823-1444.

The only organists to perform together in the two concert organs in the world today, Ted A. Worth, the classic-ial organist of the Duo, and Andrew Crow, a pops organist, will perform Saturday, Febru-ary 21, as part of the University Artist and Lecture Series.

The only organists to perform together in the two concert organs in the world today, Ted A. Worth, the classic-ial organist of the Duo, and Andrew Crow, a pops organist, will perform Saturday, Febru-ary 21, as part of the University Artist and Lecture Series.

Ted Alan Worth, (right), chats with his concert organ part ner, Andrew Crow. Both men will perform next week in Gentry Gymnasium,高手于次, a concert organist, and Mr. Crow, a pops organist, will perform Saturday, Febru-ary 21, as part of the University Artist and Lecture Series.

The only organists to perform together in the two concert organs in the world today, Ted A. Worth, the classic-ial organist of the Duo, and Andrew Crow, a pops organist, will perform Saturday, Febru-ary 21, as part of the University Artist and Lecture Series.
Student opinion

The programmed student?

QUESTION: Many university students throughout the nation resent what they feel is their school's computerized and depersonalized attitude toward them as individuals. Are they right in feeling this way? Do you believe the student-teacher relationship is satisfactory? If not, how could it be improved?

A. Keith Callehan, SMP72 — There is always a way to improve anything. The student-teacher relationship here is closest to ideal. I have attended nine universities or colleges and two academies. I have repeatedly found this kind of attitude on this campus. Do you believe the student-teacher relationship is satisfactory? If not, how could it be improved?

Margaret M. Kuehn, DP79 — I believe the student-teacher relationship is satisfactory. In a university this size, IBM cards are a necessity. I do not feel that piling work on teachers will help bring students and faculty closer together. I feel that the accountability of teachers is of the students and more than willing to help.

Ronald B. Seifert, DP79 — Not really. Most of the teachers I have classes from know me by name, and I feel I know them. However, I do resent the classes in which there is not the title of doctor off our JDAY journal or something. The mail, especially when they call me by name, is annoying. The doctor in the hospital.

Though the student-teacher relationship is fair, it could be improved if the teachers forget the idea that the students are treating "brawn-ner" them.

Clifton Roach, president of the University Stamp Club, P.O. Box 112, Clifton, California 92354 — We specialize in people suffering from stroke disease, "Pitcam." Dr. Turr holds the certificate of clinical competence in the American Speech and Hearing Association.

The hearing clinic is equipped with two completely sound proof rooms and over $13,000 worth of equipment including a new high definition television. For speech rehabilitation a Bell and Howell Language Machine is used frequently.

Further information concerning appointments and fees may be obtained by telephoning Dr. Turr at extension 2801, or by writing to the Loma Linda University Hospital, Loma Linda, California 92354.

 Stamp club makes special envelope for "Kaleidoscope" 70

The Loma Linda University Stamp Club is preparing a special cachet envelope honoring the 25th anniversary of the first four-year graduating class from the former La Sierra College, according to Robert Koch, president of the club.

The "Kaleidoscope" 70 envelope may be obtained by sending $3 to the University Stamp Club, P.O. Box 680, Loma Linda 92354.

Other special envelopes available through the stamp club include a first day cover honoring the establishment of the seventh-year Adventist sanatorium in Western Samoa ($1, including one block of four mint stamps); a special cachet envelope commemorating the 50th anniversary of the "Pitcam" to Western Samoa ($2, available later this year), and a set of 13 uncancelled stamps from Pitcairn Island ($2.50 per set).

PHYSICIANS TAKE A BREAK during the first session of the Theodore Billroth refresher course in surgical anatomy held at Loma Linda University. Raymond F. Tatro, MD, (front row third from left), assistant clinical professor of surgery, was the moderator. The course, which includes lectures and physiology sessions, is being held four days each week from February 14 to May 14, will be conducted by the medical students attending the four-day course, held February 14-17, were from out of the state. The second session of the course will be held during the last week of February.

For more information concerning the possibility of establishing a practice in this beautiful and temperate section of the Northeast, please write to: The Administrators, Parkview Memorial Hospital, Brunswick, Maine, or call collect — 207-725-5547.
Leadership course begins next week in three cities

A five-session Leadership IV course begins next week in three locations in southern California as part of the Loma Linda University extension program, according to Vernon H. Koeoglou, EdD, director of adult education.

The course, taught in five parts, will deal with improving performance and productivity of the five sections are Concepts of Leadership: Managerial, Clarifying Individual Responsibility; Standards of Performance; Performance Appraisal; and Improved Responsibility Through Individual Development.

Henderson, Dean of the School of Business Administration, at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, will teach the course.

People interested in taking the class can enroll at the first class on Tuesday, February 17, at 7 p.m. in the lobby level amphitheater of University Hospital. The leadership class will also be taught on the La Sierra campus and in the Valley Drive Seventh-day Adventist Church, Glendale.

Student opinion

Continued from page 3

came from the size of our class, and lack of interest in the qualified personnel.

We are expected to reproduce an ideal [sic] "book theology" that cannot work in everyday practice. Ideals are fine but our training is more concrete. We are expected to oppose compulsory chapel in the name of personal liberty. Perhaps the compulsory element might be lessened if students, as they entered the church, could sit where they had trained.

Loma Linda University still operates on the basic principle that faculty and students who come here believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. It does not mean loss of religious freedom. Group worship simply asserts that freedom. When men cry for freedom from the type of control exercised by the church in such things as compulsory chapel attendance, they do not first make sure that the mind is not closed to the Christian philosophy on which the University is based. Academic freedom is not possible, only the best is good enough. But one cannot always react one upon the other. As to the quality of programs, the Christian University does not frame its religious program as supplementary. It is an integral part of academic life. Neither the campus nor the University is free from the pressures of the secular world. The University must be alert to its own philosophy and not be deprived minutes in the secular aspects of University life. For here the school aims to train doctors, dentists, leaders in every field of endeavor according to the Christian philosophy on which the University is based. Academic freedom is not possible, only the best is good enough. But one cannot always react one upon the other. As to the quality of programs, the Christian University does not frame its religious program as supplementary. It is an integral part of academic life. Neither the campus nor the University is free from the pressures of the secular world. The University must be alert to its own philosophy and not be deprived minutes in the secular aspects of University life. For here the school aims to train doctors, dentists, leaders in every field of endeavor according to the Christian philosophy on which the University is based. Academic freedom is not possible, only the best is good enough. But one cannot always react one upon the other. As to the quality of programs, the Christian University does not frame its religious program as supplementary. It is an integral part of academic life. Neither the campus nor the University is free from the pressures of the secular world. The University must be alert to its own philosophy and not be deprived minutes in the secular aspects of University life. For here the school aims to train doctors, dentists, leaders in every field of endeavor according to the Christian philosophy on which the University is based. Academic freedom is not possible, only the best is good enough. But one cannot always react one upon the other. As to the quality of programs, the Christian University does not frame its religious program as supplementary. It is an integral part of academic life. Neither the campus nor the University is free from the pressures of the secular world. The University must be alert to its own philosophy and not be deprived minutes in the secular aspects of University life. For here the school aims to train doctors, dentists, leaders in every field of endeavor according to the Christian philosophy on which the University is based. Academic freedom is not possible, only the best is good enough. But one cannot always react one upon the other. As to the quality of programs, the Christian University does not frame its religious program as supplementary. It is an integral part of academic life.