MLK Jr. Celebration Honors His Legacy
*Building the Beloved Community—From Horizon to Horizon: Global Women’s Achievements and Concerns” is the theme for the 2011 Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration at Andrews University. This year’s events, running Jan. 13–20, will honor the life and legacy of peace-advocating civil rights activist Martin Luther King Jr. and include a variety of activities to enhance the understanding and appreciation of his service. All public events take place on the campus of Andrews University.

The celebration kicks off with prominent historian, author and long-time political activist Barbara Ransby offering the keynote address for University Forum on Thursday, Jan. 13. The program begins at 11:30 a.m. in the Howard Performing Arts Center and is open to the public. Ransby has published dozens of articles and essays in scholarly and popular venues. In 2003, she authored the award-winning biography Ella Baker and the Black Freedom Movement: A Radical Democratic Vision. Currently, she continues her activist scholarship in the areas of gender and women’s studies.

Each year, Andrews observes a tradition of having a student present one of King’s sermons. This year’s honored student, John Coaxum, a first-year seminarian, will present, “Three Dimensions of a Complete Life” during New Life Fellowship Worship Service on Saturday, Jan. 15, at 11:30 a.m. in the Seminary Chapel located in the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. The sermon was originally presented by King on April 9, 1967, at the New Covenant Baptist Church in Chicago, Ill.

In recognition of demonstrated service to meet the global concerns of women, Andrews University will honor Demetra Andreasen, Bertha M. King and Jasmine Jacob as the recipients of the 2011 Legacy of Freedom Awards. The Convocation and Awards Presentation will take place Sunday, Jan. 16, at 7 p.m. in the Seminary Chapel. The keynote speaker is Tricia Wynn of the Lake Region Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The convocation and awards ceremony will also feature an “End It Now” display that highlights international efforts to eradicate all forms of violence against women.

An essential component of honoring King’s legacy is performing meaningful acts of community service. On Monday, Jan. 17, a group of pre-selected students will provide manicures, hairstyling and makeup for residents at a local women’s shelter. Childcare and snacks will also be provided.

Several other events are planned for the week, including a café poetry reading on Saturday, Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Recreation Center located in the Campus Center. A special MLK Student Symposium Choice will also be held on Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 11:30 a.m. (Location TBA.) "The Daughters of Eve: Global Issues and Concerns” choice will be led by Claudia Allen, Kevin Leonor and Darlene Doran. The student scholars will present their original research developed in English 215. Following individual PowerPoint presentations, each student will participate in a panel discussion on the implications and consequences of their recent findings.

The week of events concludes on Thursday, Jan. 20, with a showing of Patsy Mink: Ahead of the Majority, a film documentary highlighting Mink, the first Asian American woman to serve in the United States Congress (Hawaii). The showing will take place in Garber Auditorium located in Chan Shun Hall at 7 p.m.

Cardinal Hockey Team Ranked First in Division
The Andrews University Cardinal Hockey Team is representing the school well this season. The Cardinals are first-place in the B Silver Division at the Ice Box Skating Rink in South Bend, Ind. The team plays in a men's recreation league against six other teams and currently holds a winning 7-4 record.

"This is the eighth year I've been involved with the Cardinals in a men's recreation league," says John Banks, team coach/sponsor and professor of physical therapy. "We've always done well. Every year, we've been one of the top three teams in divisions we've been placed in. There has been a steady improvement with many individuals as players and the team as a balanced, cohesive group."

This year, the Cardinals have played and beaten opponents such as Goshen College and University of Notre Dame faculty, winning some games by as many as 10 goals. The team currently leads the league in most goals for (59) and least goals against (30) and is the only team having won two shutout games.

The Cardinal hockey team is comprised of community members, University students and faculty. The roster includes: Ryan Agrey, Gordon Atkins, Kyle Cothran, Mat Feeley, Gary Johnson, Jeff Martins, Mike Martins, JC Neu, Andrew Pagels, Ruben Rios, Rob Ryan, Jared Slack, Nate Stafford (captain), Braden Teller, Daniel Tryon (alt. captain), and Paul Vivier.

The Cardinal's 26-game season will end in early April. The next game is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 5, at 10 p.m. at the Ice Box Skating Rink in South Bend, Ind. Students, faculty and community members are invited to attend free-of-charge.

For more information, visit www.iceboxskatingrink.org or check out www.eteamz.com/sbshl/calendar/ to view a complete hockey schedule.

Motorist Preparedness and More
If you are ever stranded on the road whether there is snow or not, there could less of an impact if you are equipped with an emergency kit. You can build your own inexpensive emergency kit and place it in your vehicle trunk for use in case of an emergency.

This kit should contain bottled water, energy bars, a flashlight, First Aid kit, jumper cables and a small shovel. The following website can provide you with more suggested items for your emergency kit: http://www.dmv.org/how-to-guides/emergency-kit.php.

Preparedness also extends beyond the vehicle. How do we prepare for a lack of water, shelter, food, communication with others, power, and caring for others? The following is a program called do1thing. This program breaks down the issues and the job of preparedness into manageable achievable methods of being prepared. The program focuses on one area of emergency each month. I plan to check out this program and hope you will too.

I also just finished reading an article written by the Michigan State Police, entitled "December 8, 2010—Give the Gift of Preparedness this Holiday." Perhaps, you forgot to give yourself a gift or there may be someone you forgot on your list this year. This article may give you the gift ideas you were searching for.

The safety and security of our campus depends on everyone's participation.

Andrews Student Helping Homeless Families Stay Warm

Andrews University student Dragos Prahoveanu is making a difference in the lives of Benton Harbor families this holiday season. He created the Stay Warm Project on November 20 with hopes of distributing some 250 blankets to homeless families in the area. According to Prahoveanu’s Stay Warm Facebook page, he plans to accomplish this goal by January 2011.

Visitors to his Facebook page are given this motivating message: "I personally hate being cold and I felt the need to make a difference. I am collecting blankets for those that need to stay warm this cold season. These blankets will be distributed to different shelters: Niles, Benton Harbor, etc. Make a difference!"

In collaboration with Sherry Gopp, deputy director of Emergency Shelter Services, Inc. (ESS), Prahoveanu plans to donate the blankets to an ESS shelter in Benton Harbor. The donation is expected to cover nearly all blanket needs for an upcoming drive, giving Gopp and shelter volunteers one less thing to worry about.

"It’s reassuring to meet people who are willing to donate and help. On the other side of the spectrum, it’s great to work with people who have the right uses for those blankets. In the end, we’re all making a difference to help others who are less fortunate," he says.

Donation boxes have been set up at three locations on the Andrews University campus: Pioneer Memorial Church, the Office of Campus Ministries and the Andrews Post Office. Monetary donations can also be made via check or cash. A $10–$16 donation will also cover the cost of one blanket (depending on size and type).

To learn more about the project and/or to donate, contact Dragos Prahoveanu at 248-974-5887, e-mail staywarmnow@gmail.com, or check out the Stay Warm Facebook page by searching for “Stay Warm.” Tax-deductible receipts will be given for all money donations.

Quake impact felt a year later at Andrews benefit

BERRIEN SPRINGS - "We Remember Haiti."

That was the simple message at Wednesday's one year anniversary benefit service to remember the Haitian earthquake victims: The people of Haiti will not be forgotten.

Andrews University students gathered Wednesday afternoon at the Howard Performing Arts Center for the special service, which included music, poetry and an art auction.

"It means a lot to be a part of it," said Beatrice Dolce, an Andrews student of Haitian decent. "What we're doing is just a small drop in the bucket compared to the great need. I feel blessed to be a part of it. We want to say that we will not forget our brothers and sisters.

"I called people I knew in Haiti today (Wednesday) and was able to pray with them. It has been very hard..."
for them. Some bodies are still in the rubble, only two percent of the rubble has been cleared (The Associated Press has reported less than five percent)."

The devastating Jan. 12, 2010, earthquake hit just before 5 p.m. and is estimated to have killed nearly a quarter of a million people. Another 300,000 were injured and more than 1 million people were left homeless.

The purpose of Wednesday's service was two-fold: To remember those who died after the 7.3-magnitude earthquake and to raise funds for a scholarship program for Haitian Adventist University.

HAU President Jean Josue Pierre was at Andrews to meet with university officials and attend the event. He said he is traveling through the United States this week attending similar events.

He said his campus was spared much of the damage, but many buildings were cracked.

"They look almost the same, but we have to replace them," he said in an interview. "The earthquake made things worse for the students and their families. Students want to come but they don't have the finances. We've been helping over 100 students, but that's not enough. We have a large number of students left behind."

He said the Haitian recovery process has been slow with many people still lacking food and shelter. He said his campus has sheltered as many as 25,000 people since the earthquake with 500 families still there.

Louise Albert of the Haitian American Graduate Students Association was one of several graduate and undergraduate students involved in organizing the event.

She was born in the United States but is of Haitian descent. As she puts it, she is part of the Haitian diaspora. She also helped organize a memorial service last February on campus.

"Our group (HAGSA) formed in response to the Haitian crisis," she said.

"There were about 80 students from Haiti or of Haitian descent at Andrews last year and a similar number this year.

"It's shocking that it's been a year. I would have expected a little bit more having been done. People are dying for reasons that could be avoided. We're grateful to the religious and private organizations. It shows that people still care."
Monday is Martin Luther King Jr. Day but Andrews University in Berrien Springs is getting the celebrations underway early, with a special speaker on Thursday morning.

This year's events focus on the theme of women's achievements and concerns.

Historian, author and long-time political activist Barbara Ransby will be speaking at 11:30 a.m. on Jan. 13 in the Howard Performing Arts Center on campus. It is free and open to the public.

Here's the latest news release from the university about other special events and its honorees this year:

"Building the Beloved Community—From Horizon to Horizon: Global Women’s Achievements and Concerns" is the theme for the 2011 Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration at Andrews University. This year's events, running Jan. 13–20, will honor the life and legacy of peace-advocating civil rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and include a variety of activities to enhance the understanding and appreciation of his service. All public events take place on the campus of Andrews University.

Each year, Andrews observes a tradition of having a student present one of King’s sermons. This year’s honored student, John Coaxum, a first-year seminarian, will present, "Three Dimensions of a Complete Life" during New Life Fellowship Worship Service on Saturday, Jan. 15, at 11:30 a.m. in the Seminary Chapel located in the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. The sermon was originally presented by King on April 9, 1967, at the New Covenant Baptist Church in
In recognition of demonstrated service to meet the global concerns of women, Andrews University will honor Demetra Andreasen, Bertha M. King and Jasmine Jacob as the recipients of the 2011 Legacy of Freedom Awards. The Convocation and Awards Presentation will take place Sunday, Jan. 16, at 7 p.m. in the Seminary Chapel. The keynote speaker is Tricia Wynn of the Lake Region Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The convocation and awards ceremony will also feature an “End It Now” display that highlights international efforts to eradicate all forms of violence against women.

An essential component of honoring King's legacy is performing meaningful acts of community service. On Monday, Jan. 17, a group of pre-selected students will provide manicures, hairstyling and makeup for residents at a local women’s shelter. Childcare and snacks will also be provided.

Several other events are planned for the week, including a café poetry reading on Saturday, Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Recreation Center located in the Campus Center. A special MLK Student Symposium Choice will also be held on Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 11:30 a.m. (Location TBA.) “The Daughters of Eve: Global Issues and Concerns” choice will be led by Claudia Allen, Kevin Leonor and Darlene Doran. The student scholars will present their original research developed in English 215. Following individual PowerPoint presentations, each student will participate in a panel discussion on the implications and consequences of their recent findings.

The week of events concludes on Thursday, Jan. 20, with a showing of Patsy Mink: Ahead of the Majority, a film documentary highlighting Mink, the first Asian American woman to serve in the United States Congress (Hawaii). The showing will take place in Garber Auditorium located in Chan Shun Hall at 7 p.m.

Demetra Andreasen

Born in Greece, Demetra (Lougani) Andreasen attended Newbold College where she accepted the Adventist faith and met her husband, Niels-Erik Andreasen, who is currently president of Andrews University. Demetra received her Bachelor of Science in social work from Belmont University, Nashville, Tenn., in 1968. Prior to coming to Andrews University, Demetra worked as a medical social worker for Madison Hospital in Tenn., St. Helena Hospital in Calif., Royal Newcastle Hospital in Australia, and Parkview Community Hospital in Calif. She also served in the Office for Drug Prevention and the Department of Social Work at Walla Walla College in Washington. Demetra served as community relations coordinator for the Office of University Relations at Andrews University from 1994 until her retirement in 2005. During that time she served on a number of boards including United Way, Southwestern Michigan Volunteer Center and Women in Renewal, and as a member of the Lakeland Regional Health Systems Community Benefits Committee. When she and her husband moved to Andrews in 1994, she became chair of the Women’s Scholarship Committee. Ever since, Demetra has continued to raise funds for worthy Andrews students through friends and acquaintances. Her social work experience and love for people has motivated her to reach out to the areas of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, Mich., where she continues to do volunteer work. In the last few years, Demetra has called upon friends to knit scarves for a Romanian SDA orphanage, the children of a Latvian mining village, and, recently, 40 children at the Harbor of Hope Adventist Church in Benton Harbor.

Bertha Carson-King

Jasmine Jacob

In 1973, Jasmine Jacob co-founded REACH (Render Effective Aid to Children) International, a not-for-profit organization, presently serving 26,000 children in 24 countries. Born in a very humble home in Sri Lanka, Jacobs later moved to Spicer Memorial College in India for education, then to America to attend Andrews University and Michigan State University. After arriving in the United States, Jacob accepted various teaching jobs while continuing her graduate education, eventually serving as a reading consultant in the Benton Harbor School District, a poor neighborhood just a short drive from Andrews University. In 1989, Jacob took early retirement with the State of Michigan and began working full-time for REACH International without salary. For 30 years, under her entrepreneurial leadership, REACH International has established its own schools, hostels, orphanages and vocational centers for destitute children, now with branches in 24 countries. Through childhood education, this organization has helped thousands of children break their inherited cycle of poverty.

Update on Ron Whitehead

On Thursday, Dec.16, Betty Whitehead shared the following update about her husband, Ron Whitehead following his surgery for a brain tumor.

Ron is now in his hospital room taking ice chips. After a 4 1/2 hour surgery, the doctor is hopeful that he got all the tumor, but will confirm tomorrow with an MRI. He stated that it appeared to be a typical benign adenoma. Though Ron looks great he says he feels like he was "hit by a truck, maybe a Peterbilt." He has minimal pain, and the anesthesia and sore throat from the ET tube haven’t slowed his chatter down. We are so thankful, and God is so GOOD!! We appreciate so much your many kind e-mails, texts, phone calls and prayers.

Pastor Ron Whitehead to Undergo Surgery

Pastor Ron Whitehead, who serves as Assistant to the President for Spiritual Life, asked that the following be shared with our University family:

Within the last few days, I have experienced sight loss and was diagnosed with a large pituitary adenoma (brain tumor). Surgery is scheduled at St. John’s Health Center, Santa Monica, California on Dec. 16, 2010 at 7 a.m. The hopeful news is these tumors are rarely malignant. I will be in the hospital for two days and will then stay in the area for a week for follow-up physician visits. My wife Betty and I hope to return home to Berrien Springs on Dec. 23. Our family would appreciate your prayers, knowing that God is in control and always faithful.

Andrews Student to Compete on NBC's "The Sing-Off"

“Our intentions are to use the opportunity as a ministry...We’re proud of our faith!” says Geston Pierre, a graduate student at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich. Pierre will be performing in one of ten groups chosen for NBC’s competition series, "The Sing-Off," a five-night holiday event featuring a cappella singers from around the country. Pierre is one of six singers in Committed, the only Christian a cappella group featured in the event.

"The Sing-Off," hosted by recording artist Nick Lachey, will premier its second season on Monday, Dec. 6, from 8-10 p.m. The competition will continue on Dec. 8, 13 and 15 and culminate in a live finale on Dec. 20 (8-10 p.m. ET each night). Committed is one of ten groups competing for the grand prize: a..."
recording contract with Sony Music and a cash prize of $100,000.

The group began as a quartet in 2003 at Forest Lake Academy, Orlando, Fla., and expanded to six members in 2005. Members include Dennis Baptiste, Alain Gervais, Geston Pierre, Robert Pressely, Maurice Staple and Theron Thomas. The all-Adventist sextet debuted at Oakwood University, Huntsville, Ala., for a freshman concert in October 2005 and continued singing at various church and school events in the state and across the country. Committed has performed their biggest gig to date at a United Christian Artists Association Legends Ball in Nashville, Tenn., making "The Sing-Off," "The biggest opportunity we've ever had," says Pierre.

"The Sing-Off" was taped in Hollywood, Calif., August through mid-September. The group faced several challenges in July when they were first accepted to the show. "We knew we would have Sabbath issues and problems," says Pierre. "So we contacted the producers of the show and told them we wouldn't be able to perform or rehearse on Saturdays. This disturbed them, because a lot of the taping takes place on that day."

The group waited one week, wondering whether or not they would have to "kiss everything goodbye," says Pierre. At the end of July, the singers learned that their taping dates had been changed to Mondays and Wednesdays, a miracle the group "knew was from God."

Committed members hail from Alabama, Virginia and Michigan and are all between the ages of 22–24. Five are graduates of Oakwood University and the sixth is a junior music major at the school. Last year's series winner, Nota, was also comprised of Seventh-day Adventists who are currently working on their album.

"We're really excited to be on the show," says Pierre. "Our intentions are to use the opportunity as a ministry. After the show, we'll have more influence and know more people. We see that as an opportunity to use our exposure for God's glory."

Epic Records will release digital tracks of each group's performance immediately following the airing of each episode. All 10 groups will also be featured on "The Sing-Off: Harmonies for the Holidays" being released by Epic Records on November 30. Look for Committed members to perform in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and for their guest appearance on Warner Bros.' "The Ellen DeGeneres Show" in early December.

Passing of Chris Miller

Chris Miller, husband of Nancy Miller (Department of Teaching, Learning & Curriculum), passed away Sabbath morning, Nov. 6 after a two-year long battle with cancer. Thank You from Nina Elmendorf-Steele

Dear AU Family ~

How grateful I am for all the prayers, visits, cards, gifts, and support shown during my recent back surgery and recuperation. While this has been much more extensive and long-term than anticipated, the outpouring of your care has deeply touched my heart.

Your kind thoughtfulness also included an exquisite arrangement which graced my hospital room; its composition reminding me of just one of the many reasons I love this campus: the abounding and varied diversity. The bouquet combined fresh-cut and wild flowers, ferns and meadow grasses, pods and buds - all with rich colors, varying hues, and delicate textures which blended to create a breathtaking, living reminder of God’s creation.

Andrews University abounds in similar ways; contrasting yet intermingling on multiple levels to converge the rich dynamics of a faith-focused, thinking, international community. Jesus is our common denominator, and with Him as our closest friend, all who are connected with AU will continue to seek knowledge, affirm faith, and change the world!

Thanks again,

~Nina Elmendorf-Steele
Meeting of the Berrien Springs Camera Club

The Berrien Springs Camera Club will meet Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Berrien Springs Public Library at Cass (Old 31) and Union in Berrien Springs. This month’s program consists of a competition of prints and digital images submitted by members. The selected topics for the month include: 1) Candids and 2) Trees. Three additional categories are appropriate for all of our competitions: 1) Nature (nothing domesticated, nothing of a human origin), 2) Portraits, and 3) Open (any other subject).

This is an opportunity to submit those precious pictures of family and friends that don’t quite qualify as portraits. "Trees” can offer endless variety: different species, sizes, seasons, from a close-up of a leaf or grain in the bark to a panorama of a whole forest.

Prints, at least 5” x 7” in size, should be mounted, with the title and photographer’s name on the back. Instructions for submitting images in digital form are available on the club’s Website: http://photoclub.berrienspringsmi.us/.

All are welcome, either to observe or to join. Anyone who wishes to join may submit photos to the competition, up to 10 projected images and/or 10 prints. Refreshments will be served.

John Walton, Author, to Give Lectures

"The Lost World of Genesis One: Ancient Cosmology and the Origins Debate" presented by John Walton, Professor of Old Testament at Wheaton College.

Sabbath afternoon, January 22, at 3:30 p.m. in the Biology Amphitheater on the campus of Andrews University.

According to Francis S. Collins, head of the Human Genome Project and author of The Language of God, "This book presents a profoundly important new analysis of the meaning of Genesis. Digging deeply into the original Hebrew language and the culture of the people of Israel in Old Testament times, respected scholar John Walton argues convincingly that Genesis was intended to describe the creation of the functions of the cosmos, not its material nature. In the process, he elevates Scripture to a new level of respectful understanding, and eliminates any conflict between scientific and scriptural descriptions of origins."

Professor Walton holds a Ph.D from Hebrew Union College in Hebrew and Cognate Studies. He has been on the faculty of Wheaton College since 2001. Prior to that he taught for twenty years at Moody Bible Institute. He is general editor of The Zondervan Illustrated Bible Backgrounds Commentary: Old Testament. His other books include Jonah (Expositor’s Bible Commentary), Ancient Near Eastern Thought and the Old Testament, and Essential Bible Companion.

Note:
Dr. Walton will be giving a second talk while on campus on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Julian Thompson Amphitheater (Physics Amphitheater). He will speak on "Taking the Bible Seriously."

This talk is geared for students in the science departments, though AAF members are welcome. He will be talking about common ground issues at this talk, saving the controversial issues until Sabbath afternoon.

Spare room anyone?!
Would anyone be so kind as to share a spare room 2 nights a week during Spring 2011 semester? I commute 1 hour each way from Elkhart, IN, finishing my Landscape Design/Horticulture degree. Next semester I will have an evening class Mondays and Wednesdays, followed by early morning classes the following days. It would help me SO much to stay somewhere closer to AU those 2 nights. My sweet tempered and very well behaved golden retriever/german shepherd furry companion, Tango, comes along with me to class, and is getting really smart from attending school, too! He'd love to stay overnight with me, too, if anyone would welcome us both. I would be open to barter, or a small monetary exchange, or house-sitting. Oh, and if anyone has an extra older car with good gas mileage, the car I've been borrowing this semester will be going back to its owner soon. Thank you everyone!
