Weimar College PAC Week
Weimar College students are just finishing their Practical Application Component (PAC) week. Some of this week's projects included:

- Canvassing
- Campus Improvement
- Massage Ministries
- Fund Raising for Korean Mission Trip
- Evangelism in Action
- Musical Tour Practice
- Swift Water Rescue Training
- Bible Work

We have heard wonderful preliminary reports and we look forward to sharing some of the stories with you next week. For now, here is a sneak preview of one project from this week: The test run of a powerful literature evangelism program called Faith Trip.
Academy Campout

Weimar Academy students and staff members are heading to the mountains for a campout this weekend. This is the first stage of a series of wilderness survival training classes that will be a part of the school curriculum this year. Students will learn how to start a fire without matches, how to build a shelter, and most importantly, how to survive by walking with the Lord.
Antelope Hills Health Expo

Weimar College students assisted with the Antelope Hills SDA church health expo on Sunday, September 25. Roughly 35-40 people attended the expo. Students provided blood pressure screening and the Harvard step test which measures how high the pulse reaches under moderate levels of exercise. Everyone who came through was very thankful for the screening and several people with high blood pressure were particularly interested in our free website, www.newstartclub.com. College Students Learn Photography and Beautify the Campus

Weimar College is offering a photography class this semester. Students are not only learning the art of photography, but their efforts will improve the campus as well. Framed photographs, the best of the class’s efforts, will grace the halls of several buildings on campus, bringing a welcoming touch.
God bless,
