Happy Sabbath,

- Weimar College Days is February 5 and 6 (this coming Sunday and Monday). If you know a potential Weimar College student invite them to come and experience our journey to true education. Call 530-422-7923 to sign up.
- A new student-formed ministry called PAUSE (Preparing Adventists in Universities for Song Evangelism) has begun. PAUSE is geared towards enhancing student’s musical capabilities. When PAC times roll around, those trained can use their skills to teach and bless others.
- February 10, the college will be holding their bi-annual agape feast.

Weekend Webcasts

Tonight’s vespers webcast will be presented by AFCOE. The speaker is Tammy Steenson. As always, there will be plenty of music and testimonies to share. The program will be webcast beginning at 7 p.m. at www.weimartv.com

Weimar College and Academy Closed Weekend

Weimar College was greatly blessed by Ray Gallimore, president of Michigan Conference, this past weekend. His overarching theme was having a close connection with God.

Sabbath was a special highlight with a power-packed Sabbath School led by college and academy students. Following that, Pastor Gallimore’s topic tied directly in. Throughout the morning, there was a definite sense of God’s presence.
But the day was only half over. In the afternoon, the NEWSTART Singers hit the streets again. This time, they targeted the area around Weimar.

One group had the special experience of singing to a father and daughter in their home around their grand piano. When they finished, the father insisted on giving money to help with gas. He came back with $200 saying it was nothing compared to the joy they brought him and his girl.

Weimar College Holds Health Expo at SacCentral Church

This past Sunday, Dr. DeRose’s health evangelism class held a NEWSTART health expo at the SacCentral church. 160 people from the community went through it. One lady who came in from street advertising (a marketing method exploited in California) said she had noticed the church was heavily involved with health ministries. When she saw FREE MASSAGES advertised, that was her tipping point. After talking with one of the students, she signed up for Bible studies.

The Sound of Music: It’s Catching

“The value of song as a means of education should never be lost sight of... Let there be singing in the school, and the pupils will be drawn closer to God, to their teachers, and to one another.” Education p.168
Walking around Weimar campus, you'll be hard pressed not to hear music. Strains of song pour from the dish pit as students scrub breakfast dishes, ukuleles strum about meal tables, strings sound at vespers, pianos pound rapturous renditions of magnificent melodies. Weimar is alive with the sound of music. It doesn't get much better than that.

Fiber

Are you eating enough to loose weight? Fiber comes in many different sources. Combine these sources with water and you’ve a winning recipe. Water. Fiber. Water. Fiber. It’s amazing how it works.
