Huge Earthquake Rocks East Coast Even to California. Big Radio Interview this Saturday

As most of you know, "one of the largest [quakes] ever" to hit the East Coast struck earlier today. Amazingly, it was felt "from Toronto to New York and all the way to North Carolina." As you also know, I recently wrote a small tract entitled "Making Sense of Natural Disasters" with an earthquake on the cover. You can view the tract and see the cover at www.whydisasters.com. Inside of the tract are these words:

Already the restraining Spirit of God is being withdrawn from the world. Hurricanes, storms, tempests, fire and flood, disasters by sea and land, follow each other in quick succession. Science seeks to explain all these. The signs thickening around us, telling of the near approach of the Son of God, are attributed to any other than the true cause. People cannot discern the sentinel angels restraining the four winds, that they shall not blow until the servants of God are sealed. But when God shall bid His angels loose the winds, there will be such a scene of strife as no pen can picture.

Read Luke 21:11 and Revelation 7:1-3; 16:18. Thankfully, today's tremor caused little damage, but larger disasters will soon "follow each other in quick succession." Surely, the God of heaven is sending warnings to His wayward planet. The Holy Spirit is being withdrawn from the earth. The "signs" are "thickening around us, telling of the near approach of the Son of God." Who understands these things? Let's be among those who do. As a reminder, you can purchase 100 of our little tracts for only $5 per pack. It's perfect for sharing right now. To order, call 1.800.782.4253, or order online.

My articles about Defending the Ten Commandments and they're worth contemplating. Truly, life's biggest issue is not our bank accounts, or even our jobs, but the salvation of our souls through Jesus Christ followed by practical obedience to the Ten Commandments. White Horse Media will also soon release another tract listing the full version of The Ten Commandments (from Exodus 20:1-17) and explaining salvation through the gospel. Plus, we plan on launching a new website solely dedicated to this "Present Truth." God's Word says,

Here is the patience of the saints:
Here are they that keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. Revelation 14:12.

This Saturday morning, August 27, from 6-7 am EST, I will be interviewed on the large KDKA radio show, Weekend Magazine with Rob Pratte, in Pittsburgh, Penn. To listen live at that time, click the above link.

Our staff at White Horse Media is now praying for larger donations. $250,000 would be great. Or more. We have many plans to spread God's message, but we need funds to carry them out. We trust the Lord. If you are someone God has largely blessed with means, and if He impresses you to consider us, let me know. Soon Jesus will return. Then every dollar and iota of effort we have put into His cause will be seen to ripple throughout eternity.

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust corrupt, and where thieves break in and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where no moth can corrupt, and where no thieves break in and steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. Matthew 6:19-21.

In Him,

Steve Wohlberg

A 5.8-magnitude earthquake struck Mineral, Virginia, 87 miles outside of Washington, D.C., today. You can see the White House during the quake as the Secret Service walks on its roof in the video above.

Shaking could be felt from Toronto to New York and all the way to North Carolina at close to 2 p.m. EST this afternoon. The quake lasted 45 seconds, and is one of the largest ever to hit the East Coast.

The Pentagon, Capitol and White House were all evacuated, according to the Associated Press.

Roll Call says the Capitol was evacuated after staffers saw "chandeliers ... swinging from side to side." According to an eyewitness on Twitter, the National Cathedral is damaged, with some of its masonry falling off altogether.

But no fatalities have been reported so far, and the damage appears to be relatively minimal.

Many people trying to make cell phone calls in the area reported having trouble finding service. Craig Fugate, the head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, used Twitter to ask Washington residents to "try to stay off your cell phone if it is not an emergency."

Office workers stood outside Dupont Circle in Washington, waiting to be allowed back in to their buildings after the tremor, reports Laura Rozen, who writes The Envoy blog for Yahoo! News. While there were reports that the National Monument was "tilted," Yahoo! Ticket reporter Chris Moody went to the scene and found it looking fine. The grounds within 1,000 feet of the monument were closed, he reported.

Two nuclear reactors in Virginia were automatically shut off after the quake, but no damage has been reported, according to Reuters. A nuclear power plant near the epicenter of the quake is designed to survive up to a 6.1-magnitude quake, according to the People's Alliance for Clean Energy.

This video shows cars crushed from falling bricks in Tyson's Corner, Virginia. WNYC reported on Twitter that there was no significant damage from the tremor in New York City.

In the video below, New York District Attorney Cyrus Vance tries to calm a room full of skittish reporters after the quake struck during a press conference announcing the city was dropping rape charges against Dominique Strauss-Kahn.
At the Yahoo! offices near New York City's Union Square, editors and writers watched their computers shake for at least 15 seconds, before finally breaking the office's perpetual awkward silence to ask each other if the shaking was from an earthquake. Fellow Lookout blogger Zachary Roth said he felt his entire apartment building in Brooklyn shake, and is still feeling dizzy.

Rachel Rose Hartman, a political blogger for Yahoo! News who lives in a Washington suburb, said the quake sent her fireplace tools flying to the ground. She ran to a doorway to wait out the quake.

If you felt the earthquake, you can add your zip code to this government site that is tracking how large the tremor was.
