welcome to our campus

Welcome to the 2011 Easter Passion Play on the campus of Andrews University where we will ask once again: What kind of person was this Jesus? We will portray Him during the last week of His life, when His friends abandoned Him and His enemies arrested Him, after the Christmas carols faded away and before cathedrals were erected in His honor. What was Jesus really like and what did He do for the whole human family in His short life and by His death? That is what we will contemplate during the Easter Passion Play.

We invite you and your family to share this experience with the help of hundreds of young student volunteers on the campus of Andrews, a Christian university in southwest Michigan.

Sincerely,

Niels-Erik Andreasen

President, Andrews University

easter passion play history

In 2003, Andrews University put on its first Easter Passion Play. The introduction of this play was through the vision and dedication of Ron Whitehead. Pastor Whitehead spent his childhood attending passion plays around the world with his family, including the world-famous play in Oberammergau, Germany. In 2002, he did some demographic studies and found that there were no other interactive outdoor passion plays within a two-hour radius. After sharing this research with University leaders, he received unanimous support. Whitehead saw this information as God's sign to move ahead and start the planning process. In the fall of 2002 a great team of supportive students, campus leaders and community members came together and started to undertake this project. In 2003, their hard work paid off and the first Easter Passion Play on the campus of Andrews University was produced.

Over the past several years, student leaders, campus faculty and staff, and the community have continued to portray Christ's ultimate gift of love. By offering viewers a chance to be engaged with the story, we are reminded of Christ's sacrifice. Though the Easter Passion Play has seen many difficulties throughout the years (including the occasional Michigan snowstorm) God has always provided and continued to bless the growth of this ministry.

Thank you for joining us for this year's Easter Passion Play. We pray God blesses you as you experience the passion of Christ.

choral easter celebration

Saturday, April 23, 2010, 8 p.m.

This choral presentation by the Andrews University Department of Music is entitled "For the Sake of the Children". The program is inspired by Jesus Christ's words "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Additionally, the theme of renewal for all humankind will be explored and celebrated as made possible through God's plan of salvation. Director Stephen Zork has selected choral music and Biblical narratives that span creation, Christ's ministry, His crucifixion and resurrection; and culminate in the earth made new.

FREE CONCERT: TICKETS ARE REQUIRED.
They are available at the Howard
Center Box Office from 7-8 P.M.
