Study Guide
For The Greek Placement Exam

Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary

The purpose of the Greek Placement Exam is to ensure that students have the Greek skills necessary to understand and carry out effective Biblical exegesis both in seminary exegesis classes and in sermon and teaching preparation during their ministries.

Rev. April 2016

BASIC FACTS ABOUT THE EXAM

• The Greek Placement Exam is given during Seminary Orientation each August and May.
  (See below for the differing vocabulary requirements of the Intermediate Greek final exam.)
• Students wishing to take either exam must register with the New Testament Department secretary (269-471-3219) at least one week before the exam is to be given.
• A passing score on the Greek Placement Exam, or a C (65%) in Intermediate Greek, is required of every MDiv student before they can register for the more advanced NT classes and graduate from the seminary.
• The Exam may also be used to fulfill the Greek language requirement for the MA Religion and the PhD/ThD programs.

PREPARING FOR THE EXAM

The Greek Placement Exam will test your knowledge of and ability to use New Testament Greek at the Beginning and Intermediate Levels. Five skill sets are necessary to complete the exam successfully: Vocabulary, Parsing, Syntax, Translation, and Comprehension. These are described in more detail below.

A Greek tutorial, focusing mainly on morphology, is available on the web at: www.andrews.edu/sem/semtech/greek_tutorial. Optional review sessions are offered before the Placement Exam during Seminary Orientation.

1. Vocabulary

• Know the basic meaning of all Greek words used 50 times or more in the New Testament.
• (Those taking the Intermediate Greek final exam in July or April must know all words used 30 times or more.)
• Don’t forget to pay attention to:
  • changes in the meaning of a preposition when followed by a genitive, dative, or accusative.
  • rough breathing marks
• Appropriate word lists may be found in:
  • Metzger, Bruce. Lexical Aids for Students of New Testament Greek.
  • Van Voorst, Robert. *Building Your New Testament Greek
    Vocabulary.*
  • Trenchard, Warren C. Complete Vocabulary Guide to the Greek New Testament.
  • Kubo, Sakae. *A Reader’s Greek-English Lexicon of the

2. Morphology : Parsing Individual Words
   • Be able to parse nouns, articles, adjectives, pronouns, and
     verbs.
     • Nouns (in all three declensions)
       • Case - nominative, genitive, dative, accusative, and vocative
       • Gender - masculine (m), feminine (f), neuter (n)
       • Number - singular, plural
     • Articles
       • Case, Gender, Number
     • Adjectives and Pronouns (in all three declensions)
       • Case, Gender, Number
       • Some pronouns also have 1st, 2nd, and 3rd person forms
     • Verbs (regular and irregular verbs, contract verbs, and -μαι
       verbs)
       • Mood - indicative, subjunctive, imperative
       • Tense - present, aorist, imperfect, perfect, future, pluperfect
       • Voice - active, passive, middle, deponent
       • Person - 1st, 2nd, 3rd
       • Number - singular, plural
   • Infinitive - tense, voice
   • Participle - tense, voice, case, gender, number
• The test will use the order and abbreviations listed above.
• Not all parsing elements will appear in every parsing question
  on the exam
• Helpful introductions to parsing may be found in:
  • Richards, W. Larry. Read Greek in 30 Days (or less).
    (available from the Seminary New Testament office or the Andrews University Bookstore)
  • Mounce, William D. Basics of Biblical Greek: Grammar.

3. Syntax: Relationships Between Words
   • Know how to analyze a Greek sentence in order to ascertain how a particular word influences or takes its cue from other words. For example: 1) Be able to identify the usage and, if necessary, the antecedent of οὐσία in a given context. Or 2) Be able to recognize the types of conditional sentences.
   • Understand the range of possible meanings for:
     • each case of the noun family
     • the article or lack of article
     • each tense, voice, and mood of the verb
     • the infinitive
     • the participle
   • Be able to choose the meaning most appropriate to the particular context in which the word is found.
   • It is important to understand each of the basic syntactical categories of Greek nouns and verbs. Categories dealt with on this exam are based on Daniel B. Wallace’s The Basics of New Testament Syntax (see list on the back of this booklet).
While all of the syntactical categories are testable, listed below are a few which differ most from English usage.

- Nouns
  - Nominative: Predicate, Vocative
  - Genitive: Absolute, Comparison, Subjective, Objective, Dir. Obj.
  - Dative: Possession, Instrumental, Locative, Direct Object
  - Accusative: General Reference, Respect (Reference)

- Verbs
  - Present Tense: Futuristic, Historical, Tendential (Conative)
  - Future Tense: Imperatival
  - Aorist Tense: Ingressive (Inceptive), Gnomic, Dramatic
  - Imperfect Tense: Tendential/Conative
  - Perfect Tense: Intensive, Dramatic (Aoristic/Historical)
  - Middle Voice: Intensive (Indirect)
  - Subjunctive Mood: Hortatory, Prohibition, Emphatic Negation
  - Infinitives: Time, Result
  - Participles: Imperatival, Attendant Circumstance, Telic (Purpose)

Because the titles for syntactical categories vary from grammar to grammar, answer options will give a basic description of the category as well as its title. Therefore, understanding the different categories of usage for a particular case, tense, etc. is more important than memorizing terminology.

Helpful intermediate grammars which address the issues of syntax include:
- Black, David Alan. It’s Still Greek To Me.
- Wallace, Daniel B. Greek Grammar Beyond the Basics.

4. Translation of Greek Phrases, Clauses and Sentences

- Use your knowledge of vocabulary, morphology and syntax to:
  - Translate NT Greek sentences, clauses, or phrases.
  - Choose the best translation for words as required by a particular context. For example: ἐρχόμαι may mean “I come” or “I go” depending on the context.
  - Fill in an implied subject, noun, or verb, as directed by the context. For example: In some sentences εἰμί is implied rather than actually provided.
  - Memorization of the most common irregular verbs will greatly enhance ease and accuracy of translation.

- The best way to prepare for the translation portion of the test is to translate. Work at reading as much as possible from the Greek New Testament itself, consulting a lexicon etc. only when you have made your best effort to translate the text on your own. As you go, note what elements you need to review for the future.

5. Comprehension: Integration of Greek Grammar Skills

- Be able to:
  - recognize the implications of one’s syntactical analysis;
  - infer conclusions from the Greek passage as a whole.
- Since comprehension questions test your understanding of the theological meaning of one particular phrase or passage currently under examination. Be careful not to answer questions from general theological ideas but only from what the passage itself indicates.

TAKING THE EXAM

Two hours will be allowed to complete the exam, which will consist of 40 multiple choice questions. Your answers are to be recorded on a computer-graded score card, so bring a couple of HB pencils with good erasers for filling in the circles. No other materials are necessary (or allowed) in the exam. Blank scrap paper will be provided for those who desire it. All test materials are to be turned in at the end of the exam.

The exam will consist of a series of unidentified New Testament passages followed by questions regarding the vocabulary, parsing, syntax, translation, and comprehension of elements found with the passage. (Definitions for lexical forms used less than 50 times will be provided.) The passages will be taken only from the New Testament, excluding Hebrews, 1 & 2 Peter, and Jude.

The Greek Placement Exam may be taken only once during a student's first year at Seminary, plus as the final exam when taking NTST552 Intermediate Greek. If a student has taken the examination these two times and has not passed at the intermediate level or has not obtained a grade of C or higher in NTST552, then NSTS552 must be repeated.

UNDERSTANDING THE EXAM RESULTS

Exam scores will be reported in the form of percentages.

- A score of 60% or better demonstrates that a student has the Greek skills necessary to proceed directly to the appropriate New Testament exegesis and theology classes.
- Students scoring between 45% and 59% will need to take Intermediate Greek to enhance their skills before they will be able to complete their New Testament exegesis and theology requirements.
- Students scoring below 45% need to take both Beginning and Intermediate Greek in order to be prepared for their New Testament exegesis and theology requirements.
- PhD students must score at least a 67% for entrance into the program and an 85% for entrance into the New Testament program. If they do not score the appropriate percentage, they must take Beginning and/or Intermediate Greek and pass with at least a B+.

SAMPLE EXAM QUESTIONS

The following sample questions are simplified for illustration purposes. On the actual Placement Exam, the various types of questions will be intermingled and will be based on longer passages from a variety of New Testament books.
