Welcome to Andrews University. Whether you are visiting us from the local area, considering us a more permanent place of residence, an alumnus, or one of the many national or international visitors that come to share in our hospitality, we are delighted you are here.

The Andrews University campus is beautiful. The arboretum, the many resting places as you walk the grounds, the well-kept and colorful plants—all invite residents and guests alike to enjoy moments of calm thoughtfulness. Our buildings also represent the University philosophy that education means wholeness. The Howard Performing Arts Center, the Pioneer Memorial Church, the Campus Center and Dining Services, the Johnson and Beaty gyms—all invite participation and commitment to personal and community growth.

Andrews University provides a window to the world. It is impossible to walk on this campus for long without recognizing the huge diversity at Andrews University. Students, staff and faculty from Asia, South America, Europe, the Caribbean, North America and Africa live and study together. This variety brings vibrancy and richness to this unique community. We are enriched as we find opportunities to study, research, worship and enjoy recreation together.

We are family and we welcome you to our home.
When You Arrive

Be sure to drop by the Integrated Marketing & Communication (IMC) house, which includes a Hospitality Center, as soon as you arrive on campus. The IMC house is located in a wooded area across the street from the Pioneer Memorial Church parking lot. At the Hospitality Center, feel free to take brochures with information about local attractions.

Friendly volunteers are ready to assist you in making arrangements for a campus tour, to answer your questions and to help you locate campus services like ATMs, post offices and more. Many of our friendly community members have volunteered their language skills to assist our international visitors as needed.

If you would like to arrange a campus tour in another language or need other assistance with translation, please contact IMC at 269-471-3322 and we’ll put you in touch with one of our language volunteers. Remember, the earlier you let us know about your language needs, the faster we’ll be able to accommodate you. Be sure to visit andrews.edu/about/visiting for a detailed listing of services.

Who Are We?

A brief introduction to Andrews University

The university you now visit began over a hundred years ago in a place other than Berrien Springs. It is on this campus that you connect with the rich history and roots of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. What is presently Andrews University began in 1874, 80 miles east of here in Battle Creek, Michigan. That year, the newly organized Seventh-day Adventist Church founded Battle Creek College. Twenty-seven years later, in 1901, the college moved to its present, picturesque location on the banks of the St. Joseph River, where it was renamed Emmanuel Missionary College (EMC).

The university took on its present shape in 1959, when the School of Graduate Studies and the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Takoma Park, Maryland, relocated to the EMC campus. The following year, Emmanuel Missionary College, the Theological Seminary and the School of Graduate Studies were united under one charter bearing the name Andrews University, with an integrated board of trustees, administration and faculty. The name was chosen to honor John Nevins Andrews (1829–83), pioneer Adventist theologian, editor, administrator and the denomination’s first official missionary outside North America. His legacy of scholarship and service continues to inspire today, living on in the students and faculty connected with our institution.

Our faith

Andrews University is a Seventh-day Adventist institution. This statement precipitates blank stares in visitors who are unfamiliar with the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Allow us to fill in some of those “blanks” for you. Being a “Seventh-day Adventist institution” means we have our roots in the Protestant Christian tradition, of which the Seventh-day Adventist Church is a denomination. It means we emphasize the seventh day of the week, Saturday, as the Biblical day of worship. Being an Adventist means we look forward to the return of Jesus Christ, which we believe will be soon. Adventists also believe in a holistic approach to education—a balance of mind, body and spirit in such a way that students are fully prepared for service, no matter what their actual career is. Our university emphasizes physical wellness through recreation and nutrition; mental wellness through challenging intellectual pursuits and academic achievements; and spiritual wellness through prayer, fellowship and a strong relationship with God.

Our campus

The Andrews University campus is situated on 1,600 acres between U.S. 31 and the St. Joseph River, in the heart of a rich agricultural region known as the Southwest Michigan Fruitbelt, only 12 miles from the idyllic shores of Lake Michigan.

Along with 26 instructional buildings, four residence halls and four apartment complexes, the campus includes an astronomy observatory, a produce and dairy farm, a 50,000-watt FM radio station, a performing arts center, an airpark, a sledding hill, and scenic biking and nature trails.

Our programs

Andrews University offers approximately 130 undergraduate programs and 70 graduate programs ranging from one-year certificates to doctoral degrees. Areas of concentration range from business, education and architecture to liberal arts, aviation and the health sciences. The university is comprised of seven schools: the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Architecture, Art & Design, the School of Business Administration, the School of Education, the School of Graduate Studies & Research, the School of Health Professions and the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary.

Our Faculty and Students
Andrews faculty members hold graduate degrees from more than 50 U.S. and international universities. There are approximately 286 official teaching faculty; more than half hold doctorates or terminal degrees. More than 3,400 students enroll annually from most of the 50 states, and more than 90 countries and territories around the world. Andrews has approximately 91,000 alumni (graduates and attendees) worldwide.

An International University
International students have consistently been a part of the fabric of diversity by which Andrews prides itself. U.S. News & World Report’s 2015 edition of “America’s Best Colleges” ranks Andrews University as tied for second in campus ethnic diversity with Stanford, St. John’s and University of Houston. Of the more than 4,500 institutions in the U.S., Andrews is ranked as #168, and is the only Adventist university listed of the 280 institutions formally ranked as top “National Universities.” Just 98 private institutions meet these requirements.

What’s more, Andrews is tied for 7th in most international students with University of San Francisco and Northeastern University. Additionally, Andrews University offers its students a host of opportunities for international study. Extension or affiliate programs include institutions in 19 countries. Andrews also co-sponsors Adventist Colleges Abroad, a program for qualified students to study overseas while completing requirements.

Campus Arboretum

Ask any alumnus or campus visitor what they remember most about Andrews University and they’ll almost always say something about the picturesque campus. The Andrews campus features four seasons of beauty, including manicured lawns, flower beds and grove upon grove of trees. It was officially declared an arboretum in 1992. The Arboretum Council works hard to preserve this beauty, providing an inviting campus setting for students, faculty and visitors, as well as a resource for botanical education and research.

Installation of the new Andrews University Campus Arboretum sign was completed in spring 2013. The sign was designed, built and installed by alumni, staff and faculty. Members of the Arboretum Council gathered and worked together to paint the redwood sign’s wording with gold leaf. The sign is located behind the Howard Performing Arts Center along J.N. Andrews Blvd.

During your visit, be sure to keep an eye out for the 500+ identification labels placed on our trees. Or you might just want to sit back and enjoy the scenery on one of the 20 benches donated to the arboretum. For those who enjoy evergreens, Nikko Firs, Serbian Spruces and Noble Firs, check out locations east and southeast of the Science Complex. For more information about the arboretum, contact Noe Velez at 269-471-3223.

Campus Museums

Why drive to Chicago or South Bend when you can visit two museums and several small galleries right here at Andrews? The Andrews Museum of Natural History features a huge collection of shells, birds, mammals, insects and botanical specimens, including the most complete skeleton of a woolly mammoth in Michigan. If you’re into history, you’ll love our world-renowned Horn Archaeological Museum. It showcases the significant findings of Andrews Archaeological teams from their digs in the Holy Land, as well as a large collection of acquired pieces.

Finally, you won’t want to miss the 1839 Courthouse Museum, site of Andrews University’s first “classroom” in Berrien Springs. Also, be sure to check out the galleries at Smith Hall and Harrigan Hall. They feature the works of Andrews students and even some acclaimed artists.

James White Library

The James White Library contains arguably the most important collection of research materials in the Seventh-day Adventist Church—over 1.6 million items in total. The library is named after James White, the “father” of the Adventist Church, who began the Church’s publishing legacy and led the establishment of Battle Creek College, Andrews University’s predecessor. It includes two branch libraries—the Architecture Resource Center and Music Materials Center—and also houses the Center for Adventist Research and a multimedia center. The library’s 75th anniversary was celebrated over the past year.

Center for Adventist Research

Whether you’re a fourth-generation Seventh-day Adventist or a first-time visitor looking for more information about the Adventist faith, you’ll definitely want to stop by the Center for Adventist Research (CAR) during your visit to Andrews.

The Center is located in the James White Library and features writings and publications of all formats considering the aspects of the Seventh-day Adventist Church—its mission, theology and activities. It also includes the world’s premier collection of Adventist historical artifacts and research materials. Combining the former Adventist Heritage Center and Ellen G. White Estate Branch Office, this important archive infuses a heightened sense of Adventist history and mission into the campus.

For information on scheduling a tour of the CAR, please call 269-471-3209, or send an email to car@andrews.edu.

Andrews streams two campus radio stations designed to reach both classical music lovers and those who enjoy contemporary Christian music. WAUS 90.7 FM, broadcasted from the campus Howard Performing Arts Center, keeps visitors tuned in with a “24-hour classical connection” of traditional favorites such as Brahms, Beethoven and Mozart. WAUS is just one of the many services Andrews provides for the community. It also gives students hands-on experience to learn various aspects of the radio business.

WAUS is open to visitors from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 269-471-3400 to schedule your free tour.
As stated in our motto, Andrews University is committed to helping students Seek Knowledge, Affirm Faith and Change the World. And the opportunities to do all three are woven into the faith development activities in this vibrant, Seventh-day Adventist community. Whether it’s through corporate worship or outreach activities, through formal presentations or a year away as a student missionary, you’re sure to connect with just the right setting that will strengthen your walk with Jesus.

Faith Development

Campus Ministries
Located in the Campus Center, the Office of Campus Ministries ensures appropriate pastoral care, resources and services to the University campus. The University chaplain and associate chaplains function to enrich the spiritual and intellectual life of the campus by providing a variety of ministries appropriate to a spiritual, cultural and socially diverse student and professional body; and to collaborate with other spiritual care leaders of the University community.

The leadership of Andrews University Campus Ministry (AUCM) operates at a level that ignites the passion of those who have been transformed by or are considering a relationship with Jesus Christ from the unique perspective of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. To learn more about them and their ministry on campus, visit andrews.edu/cm.

Cardinal teams play against NCAA Division III and NAIA Division II schools in nearby states. The Andrews University Cardinals won the USCAA Men’s Division II Basketball National Championship for two consecutive years in 2011 and 2012, and again in 2014. There is also a Cardinals men’s hockey team who belong to a men’s hockey league in South Bend, Indiana.

Got Milk?

Andrews runs its own large-scale dairy and farming operation with more than 900 acres of cultivated land, 700 milking cows and 700 young animals, 1,400 peach and nearly 4,000 apple trees, several acres of vegetable gardens and 3,500 square feet of greenhouse space.

This year, the rolling herd average for annual milk production was approximately 29,000 pounds per cow—that’s almost 80 pounds of milk per day! To put that in perspective, the average American dairy cow only produces 20,600 pounds of milk a year.

The dairy is open 24/7, so during your stay you may want to follow your nose down to the barns and wander around—it’s a special treat to stop by during feeding time and pick up a few bottles of warm milk for the calves.

The cows are milked every day at 3 a.m., 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. and can be viewed through the large windows in the Visitor’s Center. Feel free to call 269-471-6006 to schedule a tour.

You’ll have no trouble staying active during your visit to Andrews! The extensive on-campus network of athletic facilities gives you the freedom to exercise and enjoy a bit of recreation anytime. Lift weights, go swimming, head out for a jog. Play racquetball, tennis and basketball. You can even enjoy a round of disc golf or try your hand at rock climbing. You’ll have access to men’s and women’s weightlifting and aerobic fitness centers and spas, a massive wood-floor gymnasium, an indoor swimming pool, racquetball courts, challenging bike trails and a multitude of regulation athletic fields, tracks, courts and jogging paths. The outdoor facilities are lighted and can be used at your leisure, and indoor facilities have convenient hours.

Our latest fitness options include the addition of a rock-climbing wall and a disc golf course. The climbing wall is located in the Beaty Gym and was designed in a way that challenges climbers of all skill levels. Please call 269-471-3254 for hours and pass information during the summer months. For visitors who could use a breath of fresh air, the 18-basket, two-mile disc golf course is the perfect outdoor activity.

As you can see, Andrews can easily keep up with your fitness needs.

Welcome, GC Visitors!

Campus Tours & Hospitality
If you are coming to Michigan to visit the Adventist historical sites in Battle Creek, we would love to have you include a stop at Andrews University for a free guided tour of our campus. We have planned three special days of activities when many of the areas of campus will be open and prepared for visitors. Activities can include an organ demonstration at Pioneer Memorial Church, STEM demonstrations, a walk through the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, a tour of the amazing Howard Performing Arts Center, a tour of the tiny house built by our architecture students, an arboretum tree walk through our beautiful campus or a stop at the Art & Design Gallery to view a special exhibit of paintings by Adventist artist Nathan Greene, and much more!

Special GC Activity Days
July 1—Wednesday, 10 a.m.–3 p.m.
July 8—Wednesday, 10 a.m.–3 p.m.
July 13—Monday, 10 a.m.–3 p.m.

Tour guides will also be available on Sabbath afternoons: June 27 & July 11—2–5 p.m.
Walking tours will depart from the J.N. Andrews sculpture every half hour.

Campus tours on other days can be made by special arrangement. With advance notice we can provide tours in many different languages. If at all possible, please let us know in advance when you will be visiting so we can be prepared to greet you.

Plan on 1.5 hours for the campus tour, which includes a brief historical overview, and a walk through several buildings in the heart of the campus. Plan additional time if you’d like to visit the Center for Adventist Research (which has many items of Adventist history that are of great interest) or the Horn Archaeological Museum.

Many people enjoy visiting our dairy farm (800 cows are milked three times a day!), and that would also take a little extra time.

Take a look at our virtual tour of campus (andrews.edu/virtualtour) to see if you have any special requests of what you’d like to visit.

Questions about campus tours? Please contact Rebecca May at rmay@andrews.edu.

Self-Guided Tours
If you arrive on campus after hours, or only have a very short time to visit, you will find campus maps at the main campus entrance Welcome Globe, in a weather proof box mounted on the large campus map sign.

Our Dining Services offers full-service vegetarian and vegan meals—take a look at their menu. If you are short on time, you could choose a carryout option or they could arrange for box lunches to take with you.

So we can be prepared for you, please make prior arrangements for meals by contacting Dianne Wilson at dianne@andrews.edu.

Some groups have chosen to take the tour members to our Adventist-owned grocery store, Apple Valley Market, just next to the campus to pick up sandwiches, healthy snack foods, or something from the hot deli located there.

Tornado Awareness
Mid-March through October is tornado season in Michigan. Andrews University is equipped with an early warning horn located on the top of the Science Complex. It is tested the first Friday of each month at 3 p.m.

Would you know what to do in the event of a tornado? Take a look at these helpful tips to keep you safe before, during and after times of inclement weather.

- Know the signs of a tornado! Besides obvious, visible tornadoes, here are some dangers to look out for: Strong, persistent wind rotations; whirling dust or debris on the ground beneath a cloud base; hail or heavy rain followed by either a dead calm or a fast, persistent wind shift; and loud, continuous roaring and rumbling that lasts longer than thunder. These are all signs of a potential tornado!
- Be informed! Do you know the difference between a tornado watch and a tornado warning? A watch is put into effect when the National Weather Service deems conditions favorable for a tornado. A siren is not used UNLESS a tornado has been seen. In that case, a warning will be issued and the siren will sound for three minutes until shutting off. It may sound again, however, if the tornado threat is still present.
- Tune in! If you hear the siren, tune into your local TV or radio station. In case of power outages, be sure to keep a handy battery-operated radio with you for updates. WAUS 90.7 FM will broadcast tornado locations.
- Hide! Well, not exactly. Just know that if you’re stuck in a building on campus when the sirens go off, each location is equipped with floor plans on every level that indicate tornado shelters within the building. Avoid windows, if possible, and pay attention to the instructions of staff members and employees. For your own safety, do not leave the tornado shelter unless instructed to do so.

Andrews University’s Preview Events are group-based and involve specially planned activities that help future students get to know Andrews better. In addition to having scheduled appointments with professors in students’ areas of interest, UP events give prospective students the opportunity to attend informative programs on financial aid, campus life and student success, as well as visit a class in session.

If you’re interested in participating in a University Preview event during your visit, be sure to sign up beforehand—the deadline for registration is two weeks prior to the event. Also, if the dates of your chosen Preview event don’t work, or you’re still deciding on a career path, you are invited to join us any time that works best for you to explore Andrews University and your options for the future.

Campus Tours
While some of our more adventurous visitors like to strike out on their own, many prefer to navigate the halls of Andrews University with the help of an Andrews expert. That’s why you can arrange for your own special tour, including weekend tours, to suit your schedule and interests by calling Integrated Marketing & Communication at 269-471-3345.

Tour groups meet outside of Pioneer Memorial Church near the J.N. Andrews sculpture. Language services are also available with prior notification. Future students are invited to connect with Student Visits for a personally designed tour (see p. 10).
Campus Safety

Campus Safety officers are here to make your visit safe and convenient. The Office of Campus Safety, located on the corner of International Court and Garland Avenue, is open Monday–Friday from 7 a.m.–3 p.m. Phones are staffed 24/7 at 269-471-3321. Uniformed safety officers will be happy to answer your questions, give directions or provide a temporary parking permit.

Note: The campus is gated nightly from 11 p.m.–5 a.m. Mon–Sat and from 12–5 a.m. on Sunday. However, you can still enter and exit through the gatehouse on J.N. Andrews Blvd. All other campus gates are closed at 11 p.m.

Parking Permits

All visitors and guests at Andrews University must obtain a parking permit to park on Andrews University property. Permits are free and can be picked up at the Office of Campus Safety during regular office hours.

If you are staying in a guest room at one of the dorms, you may obtain a permit at the front desk when checking in. Please park according to the campus signage. Residence hall parking lots are strictly off-limits to anyone who is not a resident. There is an ample supply of additional parking near these restricted areas.

Please see the campus map on p. 24 for designated lots with visitor parking areas.

Apple Valley Market

Walk a few yards off campus and you’ll run into Apple Valley, the largest grocer and health food store in the area. But this Adventist-owned establishment offers more than just great prices on a huge selection of groceries. The Apple Valley Café, delicatessen, bakery and sandwich bar offer convenient, nutritious alternatives to on-campus dining. Apple Valley also contains Michigan’s largest natural food store and offers a selection of vegetarian and organic products.

If you’re in town during a special occasion and need a card or small gift, visit Victoria’s Cottage located inside the same building. There is also a small floral shop available to meet your decorative and/or gift needs. During your stay, add Apple Valley to your list of places to visit. You won’t be disappointed.

Language Services

It won’t take you long to discover the incredible cultural diversity that makes Andrews University such a fascinating place—you’ll probably hear multiple languages spoken as you stroll around campus. Many of our friendly community members have volunteered their language skills to assist our international visitors as needed. If you would like to arrange a campus tour in another language, or need other assistance with translation, please contact Integrated Marketing & Communication at 471-3345 and we’ll put you in touch with one of our language volunteers. Remember, the earlier you let us know about your language needs, the faster we’ll be able to accommodate you.

Important Phone Numbers (area code 269)

Courtesy phones are conveniently located throughout the Andrews campus for on-campus calls. To place an on-campus call, simply dial the four-digit extension. On phones that allow for outside lines, dial 9, and then dial the seven-digit number. The area code at Andrews is 269, and an access code is necessary to dial long-distance from phones on campus. Binder Park Zoo

269-979-1351, www.binderparkzoo.org

The Wild Africa Exhibit at Binder Park Zoo is a permanent exhibit featuring giraffes, zebras, ostriches, stork, and antelope. This award winning exhibit allows the animals to roam, cage free, in an 18-acre (7.3 ha), savanna-like setting, very similar to how they might be viewed in the wild. Along the trail there is an opportunity to feed giraffes at the Twiga Overlook. Park visitors view the giraffes from a raised platform that places them at eye level with the animals. It’s worth the drive!

Set in the heart of the Midwest “Fruitbelt,” Berrien County is famous for its succulent fruit and vegetable produce, and summer is the perfect time to cash in on the abundance of locally grown crops. Fruit and vegetable stands line nearly every road in the county, and it’s tough to beat their freshly picked goods. The setting of Andrews is perfect for outdoor recreation during every season. Located ideally within the beautiful sunsets of Lake Michigan, rolling hills, wooded streams, beaches and lakeside attractions, the changing of the seasons allows students to enjoy a variety of recreation activities throughout the course of the school year and summer. Given its proximity to Lake Michigan and 17 surrounding state parks and recreational areas, extreme sports and water activities dominate the summer and fall months.

Whether you’re into rock-climbing, skydiving, kite-surfing, kayaking, backpacking, mountain biking, golfing or fishing, you’ll find plenty of opportunities to satisfy your recreational tastes, all within a half-hour of campus. Michigan is particularly well-known for its “singing sands,” a mysterious nickname for Lake Michigan’s beaches. If you take a walk along the shoreline, you may notice the squeaking sound caused by the high quartz content in the sand. Combine this with the crashing of the waves, warmth of the sun and the sounds of children splashing in the refreshing water, and you’ll suddenly feel very happy that the beaches are only 15 minutes away from Andrews.

For nature trail enthusiasts, you’ll love the forest preserves and state parks that surround the university. Many of these locations offer outstanding hiking and camping opportunities. Mountain bikers won’t be disappointed by the Kal-Haven Trail State Park, a 33.5-mile limestone/slag trail that links Kalamazoo to South Haven, or even the trails found in the woods near the Andrews Dairy.

Other outdoor attractions include Barbott Farms, home of the area’s largest corn maze, and the Niles Skatepark, a concrete park consisting of bowls, ramps, ledges, grind rails, jumps and more. Summertime at Andrews can (and should!) be enjoyed by all.

Barbott Farms Corn Maze, 7155 Cleveland Ave, Stevensville, 269-422-2378
