ADVANCED PLACEMENT PROGRAM (APP)

Andrews University cooperates with the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) in this organization's Advanced Placement Program (APP).

Some secondary schools offer selected students the opportunity to accelerate learning by taking one or more subjects at the college level during their senior year. In May of each year, the CEEB gives a set of Advanced Placement (AP) examinations which cover this advanced work. Examinations are graded on a five-point scale as follows: 1 – no recommendation; 2 – possibly qualified; 3 – qualified; 4 – well qualified; 5 – extremely well qualified. The faculty at Andrews University voted to give credit to the extent of the corresponding course offered on this campus if the score is 3 or better. There are exceptions as noted on the back.

A list of accepted courses and scores are listed on the back of this booklet.

COLLEGE LEVEL EXAMINATION PROGRAM (CLEP)

Andrews University realized that students who have achieved college-level proficiency on the basis of work experience and informal study ought to receive credit for what they know, regardless of when, where, how, or from whom they learned it. The CLEP program of the CEEB has been set up for this purpose, and Andrews University is participating in the program.

Only first year in residence students – freshmen, sophomores, and juniors – may earn credits by CLEP. It would be to the student's advantage when planning his college program to take the test before college registration. No credit by examination of any type may be taken during the last semester immediately preceding graduation.
